Historical and Descriptive

The Legislature of 1902 directed the State Board of Education to investigate the need of additional facilities for training teachers for the public schools of New Jersey. In its annual report of 1903, the Board reported that, although the New Jersey State Normal School at Trenton was filled with students, the supply of trained teachers was quite inadequate to the increasing demand and recommended that a normal school be established in the northern part of the State. In 1904 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a site. After inspecting many locations, the Board finally purchased a plot of twenty-five acres in the northern part of Montclair, Essex County. A more beautiful or healthful site could not have been chosen. The grounds have an elevation of four hundred feet above sea level and command an uninterrupted view of a landscape of remarkable beauty. The Orange range stretches away to the right, while at the front and left the Passaic valley, the Hudson, and the taller buildings of New York are plainly visible.

An appropriation of $275,000 was made by the Legislature of 1906 for the erection and equipment of a building. The mission style was adopted and a normal school building, 334 feet long and 133 feet deep, of brick covered with white stucco, was erected on the highest part of the grounds, fronting the New York landscape. The equipment is of the latest and best. The ample grounds afford opportunities for school gardens, tennis courts, and all the outdoor activities of a large normal school.

The building was dedicated September 28th, 1908, by Governor John Franklin Fort and the State Board of Education. The school had been previously organized on September 15th, with 187 students. Another class was received in February, 1909, to the number of 31, making the total registration in the first year 218. No advanced classes were opened the first year and no students received from any other normal school.

The New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair may be reached in the following ways:

1. By Erie Railroad—Greenwood Lake Division. The Montclair Heights station adjoins the grounds of the normal school.

2. By D., L. and W. Railroad to Montclair station, thence by Valley Road trolley to the grounds.

3. By Bloomfield Avenue trolley with transfer at Valley Road to Valley Road trolley.

4. By Autobus from Paterson.

Passengers by the Pennsylvania Railroad to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Passengers by the Central Railroad of New Jersey to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Calendar 1917-1918

The fall term began on Tuesday, September 4th, 1917, and closed Friday, February 8th, 1918. The school will be closed Thanksgiving Day and the day following and every Saturday. A vacation is given from Friday, December 21st, 1917, to Wednesday, January 2d, 1918.

The spring term will begin on Monday, February 11th, 1918, and will close Friday, June 28th, 1918, with a vacation from Wednesday, March 27th, to Monday, April 1st, 1918.

The dates of the quarters are as follows:

First quarter—September 4th, 1917, to November 9th, 1917.

Second quarter—November 9th, 1917, to February 8th, 1918.

Third quarter—February 11th, 1918, to April 19th, 1918.

Fourth quarter—April 22d, 1918, to June 28th, 1918.

Students are received at the beginning of the fall term in September or at the beginning of the spring term in February, and are admitted at their option to the Kindergarten Primary course of two years or to the General course of two years or of two and one-half years.

No class will be formed in the Kindergarten Primary course in February unless at least ten students apply for admission to that course.

New students will be registered for the spring term at 10:15 A. M. on Monday, February 11th, 1918. Former students will be registered at 1:00 P. M. on Monday, February 11th, 1918. Commencement exercises will be held in the Assembly Hall on Friday, January 25th, 1918, at 2:30 P. M., and on Friday, June 21st, 1918.

The next fall term will begin on Tuesday, September 3d, 1918. New students will be registered for the fall term in the Assembly Hall at 10 A. M. Former students will be registered at 1 P. M.

The General Aim of the School

The Montclair State Normal School is a professional school, whose single aim at present is the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools and kindergartens of the State.

The qualifications of a good teacher are both natural and acquired. The former include all that we mean by personality. In detail, these are:

1. Adaptability and tact, i. e., the ability to adjust one's self in thought, language and method to the immaturity of children.
2. A strong attraction for teaching, based on genuine love of children.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Executive ability.
5. Common sense.
6. Good health and a cheerful disposition.

One who lacks any of these natural qualifications will not teach well. Since the Normal School cannot create personality, it cannot make teachers. Its most important function is to discover, to inspire and to train the born teacher, and to fit her into her appropriate place in the schools.

There can be no academic tests of personality. The candidate for the teaching profession is admitted to the Normal School chiefly upon evidence of her intellectual ability. The condition is always implied that she may be dismissed whenever it becomes clear that she lacks conspicuously the natural qualifications of the good teacher.

To the natural teacher, however, the Montclair State Normal School offers unexcelled opportunities of acquiring that professional knowledge and technical skill which are indispensable to the best teaching.

The course of study includes the necessary elements in the training of teachers.

(1) Educational theory. The history of education, psychology, pedagogy, organization and management of schools, the principles and art of teaching, and methods.

(2) A thorough study of the subject matter of the elementary school curriculum.

(3) Observation of model teaching.

(4) Practice in teaching under expert supervision.

Requirements for Admission

(Extract from the School Law of New Jersey)

"State Normal Schools shall be maintained for the purpose of training and educating persons in the science of education and art of teaching. Tuition in said schools shall be free.

"Each county shall be entitled to at least six times as many pupils in such schools as it shall have representatives in the Legislature. In case any county shall not have the full number of pupils to which it shall be entitled, pupils may be admitted from other counties. Pupils when admitted shall sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of this State for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that, if they do not so teach, they will refund to the State the cost of their education."

In accordance with the above statute, the State Board of Education, on December 4th, 1915, passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That after January 1st, 1916, admissions to the Normal Schools from each county shall be in proportion to the number of representatives in the Legislature, and that if any county does not avail itself of the quota to which it is thus entitled, then the number of admissions to which such county is entitled but does not use shall be divided among the other counties in proportion to representation in the Legislature; and that the counties now having an excess apportionment in the State Normal Schools shall not be allowed a further apportionment of students until that excess is reduced to its normal apportionment, unless there are no applications from other counties.

Resolved, That in case a county has more applicants than the Normal Schools can receive, a number shall be allotted to each approved High School in that county in proportion to its relative enrollment; and be it further

Resolved, That in case the applicants from a High School are in excess of the number that can be received, they shall be accepted in the order of their standing in scholarship in that High School.

Resolved, That January 1st and June 1st, in each year, shall be the last dates for receiving applications for the apportionment of students for the next succeeding terms of the Normal Schools.

Both sexes are admitted.

1. Residence. All candidates must be residents of New Jersey.

2. Age. All candidates must be at least sixteen years old.

3. Scholarship. The State Board of Education at its regular meeting December 1st, 1917, voted as follows:

The educational requirements for entrance to the general courses in the Normal Schools shall be as follows:

All candidates must either:

(a) hold first grade county teachers' certificates, or

(b) hold seventy-two count qualifying academic certificates which shall include counts in arithmetic and geography, or

(c) be properly certified graduates of a four-year course in a high school or private secondary school approved by the State Board of Education; provided that, beginning with September, 1919, such candidates must, for entrance to other than special courses, have made an average grade of 80 or more in the fourth year of their high school or secondary school course, and have passed, during their high school or secondary school course, in one unit of plane geometry, three units of English, one unit of United States history and civic theory and practice, one unit of science, one-half of a unit consisting of a review of elementary geography and arithmetic, four-fifths of a unit of music, and four-fifths of a unit of drawing; provided that the requirements for music and drawing respectively shall be as follows: Beginning September 1st, 1919, one-fifth of a unit; September 1st, 1920, two-fifths of a unit; September 1st, 1921, four-fifths of a unit, or

(d) must have successfully completed a curriculum which would admit them without conditions to an approved college of arts and sciences.

Note.—A unit shall mean a year's study in any subject, constituting approximately one-quarter of a full year's work, and shall be equivalent to five academic counts.

4. Health. All candidates must present certificates from physicians stating that they are in good health and free from all physical defects that unfit them for teaching.

The Committee on Normal Schools has voted that all candidates for admission shall be examined by a woman physician selected by the school to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for teaching; and that any student may be examined by this physician at any time in her course to determine whether her physical condition warrants her continuance in the school.

In conformity with the statute of the State requiring physical training in the public schools, the State Board of Education, on October 6th, 1917, voted as follows: "That the Normal Schools Committee be instructed to inform the principals of the Normal Schools that in the opinion of this Board all students in the Normal Schools are required to take physical instruction, and that therefore none can be omitted under the law except such as are physically qualified to take such instruction as is being given."

5. Character. All candidates must present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Intention to teach. At registration all students must sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of New Jersey for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that if they do not so teach they will refund to the State the cost of their education.

7. All students are admitted on probation. The principals of the State Normal Schools have been instructed by the State Board of Education to exclude from these schools at the close of the first half year such students as are unable to pass the prescribed examinations in the work of that half year, including English composition, spelling and arithmetic.

N. B.—Application blanks containing all data necessary for admission may be obtained of the principal.

High School Preparation for the Normal School

"A certificate from an approved high school should count from 72 to 80 points, and should include those subjects that are essential to the Normal required units in methods, including drawing, plane geometry, algebra, botany, zoölogy, history, the college entrance requirements in English; for, though admitted on certificate, students are of necessity conditioned unless prepared for the required units.

"A full course in one foreign language is preferable to partial courses in two or more."

While physics and chemistry are not required for admission, high school courses in these subjects will aid in the understanding of our nature study courses. If a student has also had a recent review of arithmetic, geography, United States history and English grammar, she will find the work of this school easier. Students who have not had plane geometry in the high school will be conditioned, and they will be required to pass an examination in that subject in the Normal School. Courses in the reading of music and in English history or modern European history are advised.

Beginning with September, 1919, all candidates must have made an average grade of 80 per cent. or more in the fourth year of their high school or secondary school course, and have passed, during their high school or secondary school course, in one unit of plane geometry, three units of English, one unit of United States history and civic theory and practice, one unit of science, one-half of a unit consisting of a review of elementary geography and arithmetic, four-fifths of a unit of music, and four-fifths of a unit of drawing; except that the requirements for music and drawing may be met as follows: Beginning September 1st, 1919, one-fifth of a unit; September 1st, 1920, two-fifths of a unit; September 1st, 1921, three-fifths of a unit; and beginning September 1st, 1922, four-fifths of a unit, or Candidates must have successfully completed a curriculum which would admit them without conditions to an approved college of arts and sciences.

EDWARD RUSS HALL.

Note.—A unit shall mean a year's study in any subject, constituting approximately one-quarter of a full year's work, and shall be equivalent to five academic counts.

High school preparation in music should consist of (a) sight reading: the ability to read at sight, true to pitch, with Latin syllables, melodies containing simple skips based on the tonic chord, in any major key, and in simple two and three-part measures; (b) ear training, the ability to recognize and match tones sung to neutral syllables, as "loo."

No student will be graduated until she reaches a high degree of proficiency in spelling. Students who are very deficient in spelling or in the mechanics of written English will fail in the work of this school.

Expenses

No charge is made for tuition or for the use of textbooks and apparatus.

Each student must provide herself with a gymnasium outfit. This consists of a pair of high white sneakers, black ballet slippers, two middy blouses, and a pair of black bloomers. The entire outfit may be purchased through the school for $8.

It is most important that no part of the outfit should be purchased without the approval of the physical director. Students with apparel already in their possession should bring it for approval on Registration Day.

Luncheon will be served at the school daily at the noon intermission at moderate prices.

The Edward Russ Hall

The late Edward Russ bequeathed a substantial sum of money to the State Board of Education for the use of the New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair. This bequest has been used in the erection of a dormitory known as the Edward Russ Hall, which was opened for boarding pupils September 16th, 1915.

The building is fireproof throughout and is designed in the Spanish Mission style, with white stucco exterior walls and red

Spanish tile roof, to conform in character to the present Normal School building.

The dormitory accommodates 96 students, there being 52 single rooms and 22 double rooms. Each floor is provided with ample bath and toilet-room facilities, and at each end of the hall, conveniently located, are two enclosed fireproof stairs extending from the top floor to the ground and giving ample exits.

The main floor is particularly well planned for the social requirements of a school. The living-room at one end is thirty-three feet wide and forty feet long, having at one end a reading-room, thirteen feet by thirty-two feet. This is elevated a few steps above the general level of the living-room and can be used as a stage for giving amateur plays. On one side of the living-room is a large open fireplace, which adds much to the attractiveness of the room.

At the other end of the building is the dining-room, accommodating 110 persons. This is finished in old ivory tints and has an attractive fireplace at one side of the room.

The kitchen and serving-rooms are up-to-date in every respect. They are arranged with a view to the best sanitary requirements, and every convenience of a large kitchen has been installed.

On the first floor is located the matron's suite, which contains a living-room and bedroom. There is also a reception-room for visitors, and a hospital room.

The basement contains storerooms, trunk rooms and a large and well equipped laundry.

The sleeping-rooms, both single and double, are equipped with comfortable and attractive furniture. Each student has a single iron bedstead and excellent mattress, a chiffonier, a desk, a commode, an easy chair and a straight chair. Each student has a separate closet for clothing.

Dormitory Regulations

Students are not permitted to board elsewhere than at the Edward Russ Hall except by permission of the principal. This permission is limited strictly to boarding with relatives or friends in very exceptional circumstances.

The uniform rate for each boarder is two hundred and fifty dollars, payable as follows:

Five dollars when application is made; the balance to be paid in quarterly installments at the beginning of each quarter. That is, $57.50 at registration and $62.50 at the beginning of each quarter thereafter. The dates of these quarters are given on page 9.

No application for a room will be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of five dollars; if the application is rejected, this will be refunded. If the applicant withdraws more than thirty days before the opening of school, the deposit will be refunded, but otherwise it will be forfeited. Checks should be made payable to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

This charge includes board, laundry, heat, lights, and either a single or half a double room, according to the date of application.

No rebate is made for absence on Saturdays and Sundays, for illness for less than three weeks, or for expulsion or voluntary withdrawal from school during a quarter. Pupils who are ill for three weeks or more at one time will receive a drawback of $2.50 per week during such illness.

A student who withdraws from the dormitory voluntarily during a semester is responsible for the above payments for the full semester.

Students who have engaged accommodation at the dormitory should arrive on the day preceding the opening of the term.

Trunks should be marked, "Edward Russ Hall, Montclair Heights, N. J." If expressed prepaid to Montclair Heights by Wells Fargo Express Company or to Montclair by Adams Express Company, they will be delivered at the dormitory. If a student checks her trunk on her railroad ticket, it will be delivered at the dormitory by the Shepard Transfer Company of Montclair or by John Hart of Montclair Heights for fifty cents.

Each student should bring overshoes, an umbrella, a raincoat, bath towels, and two clothes bags marked distinctly with her name.

Each student is required to take care of her own room. Laundry is limited to twelve pieces per week of personal clothing, but no starched pieces are ironed. All clothing should be marked with the owner's name in indelible ink.

Except by permission of the matron, students are not permitted to go home or to leave town during term time. Permission to go home at week-ends will usually be granted on written request of parents.

Students must attend service at such church in Upper Montclair or Montclair as shall be designated by their parents.

Visitors, other than parents and fellow students, will be received at the dormitory only by permission of the matron.

Guests of students will be entertained at the dormitory at one dollar per day, if arrangements are made previously with the matron.

Courses of Instruction

No special students are admitted.

The aim of the school is distinctly professional. Students are prepared to teach in the elementary schools or kindergartens of New Jersey.

There are two courses of study—the General course and the Kindergarten Primary course.

Graduates in the General course receive permanent Normal School certificates, to teach and to supervise teaching in any branch or department of at least the first eight years of work exclusive of the kindergarten; to be the Principal of any school of the first eight years that is under a City Superintendent; to be the Principal of a school or the schools of the first eight years in a district employing not more than nine assistant teachers and not under a local Superintendent or Supervising Principal.

Graduates in the Kindergarten Primary course receive permanent Normal School certificates to teach and to supervise teaching in the kindergarten and in any branch or department of the first four years of school work exclusive of the kindergarten.

These certificates are endorsable without examination in most States.

I. The General Course

The General course requires two years or two and one-half years for its completion, according to the qualification and circumstances of the individual student.

A student of ability, in good health, boarding in Montclair or commuting daily for a short distance, may complete this course in two years, provided she has had in the high school the subjects recommended on page 16.

Students who lack these qualifications, or who commute daily for a considerable distance, or who have not taken in the high school all the subjects recommended on page 16, will find it impossible to complete the General course in less than two and one-half years.

All students who can do so are advised to take the longer time.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

At registration, each student may elect to take the General course in two years or in two and one-half years, according to the following programs:

Practice Teaching sixteen weeks.

Detail of the General Course of Study

PSYCHOLOGY

(a) ELEMENTARY PSYCHOLOGY

Three periods per week in the Junior B Semester

The course in Elementary Psychology includes (1) a study of the psychological organism of the brain and nervous system; the nature and training of the special senses, and the less complex phases of perception, memory, imagination, thought, the emotions, habits and the will, and the nature of their development during the elementary school period. (2) Studies in the personal reminiscences of the students, to give them practice in the analysis of subjective mental phenomena and to deepen and broaden their concepts of the subjective states of childhood. (3) Reading and reviews of certain standard reminiscent studies of childhood, such as Pierre Loti's Story of a Child; Tolstoi's Childhood, Boyhood and Youth; John Stuart Mill's Autobiography; Helen Keller's Story of My Life. The texts used in the course of Elementary Psychology are Angell's Psychology, Calkin's First Book of Psychology, Pillsbury's Essentials of Psychology. Reference use is also made of the standard texts of James, Judd, Titchener, Ziehen, Thorndike, Royce and Donaldson.

(b) GENETIC PSYCHOLOGY

Two periods a week in Junior A and Senior B Semesters

This is an advanced course, as an outgrowth of the course in Elementary Psychology, and covers one year of two periods a week. The purpose of the course is (1) to apply the facts learned in Elementary Psychology to the training of children; (2) to present, so far as they have been scientifically determined, facts concerning the nature and development of the mind during childhood and adolescence, and (3) to provide the prospective teacher with sound criteria for estimating theories about the child's mind, as well as to give training in the concrete study of child life. The course includes studies in the physical, intellectual and moral development of children; factors conditioning mental development, as heredity and environment; mental fatigue and its relation to mental work; comparative studies of the minds of lower animals and savages with those of normal and defective children; the special senses, perception, memory, imagination, thought powers, emotions and motor ability. Attention is also given to the causes and extent of defective vision and hearing and methods of testing the same, together with other minor psychical abnormalities more or less common among school children. The course includes lectures and conferences by the instructor and observations and readings by the students. The tests used include standard books by G. Stanley Hall, William Preyer, James Sully, E. A. Kirkpatrick, Earl Barnes, Stuart H. Rowe, W. B. Drummond, Gabriel Compayre, J. Mark Baldwin and others.

EDUCATIONAL PRINCIPLES APPLIED TO TEACHING

Four periods per week in Senior B Semester

The aim of the course is (a) to make students familiar with the aims of education and with the educational principles underlying the teaching process; (b) to make them able to apply these principles to school-room procedure and class management, to the selection and organization of subject matter, and to the choice and application of methods to be used in teaching.

The following topics will be considered: (1) The aims of education as presented in various periods and a special analysis of the social aim—its effects on habits, selection of subject-matter, methods and ideals.

(2) Place of the school in the teaching process.

(3) Part played by physical development and formation of moral habits in the social aim.

(4) Method of securing class interest in the recitation as derived from the social aim.

(5) Class management in light of above aim.

(6) The necessity of considering the child as the starting point in education.

(7) Varieties of lessons depending upon the particular purpose to be accomplished; the inductive development lesson (five formal steps); the deductive development lesson; recitation lesson; drill lesson; review lesson; study lesson. The teaching of definitions; the topical method; method of narration; of explanation, etc., with aim and procedure for each. The use and method of textbooks in study assignments and in the recitation.

(8) The art of questioning in the recitation.

(9) Application of the above principles to school-room observation and to preparation for practice teaching. Lesson plans by students with special attention to aim of lesson, steps to be considered, activities desired.

The course will consist of lectures, assigned readings, discussions, papers, reports of observation and lesson plans.

SPECIAL METHODS

Three periods a week in Senior B Semester

This course aims to teach students to apply the principles of education as consideerr in the more general course to method sin reading and spelling.

1. Reading (a) Something of the history of reading as to selection of material and methods used. (b) Present-day standards for choice of subject matter. (c) Methods: A discussion of the word, sentence and phonic methods. Discussions of other more recent methods which are combinations of the above, as Rational, New Education, Natural, Nursery and Aldine; correlation of drawing, story, dramatization with reading in the primary grades; a study of phonetics. Lesson plans and the presentation of an ideal method by each student. Methods for intermediate grades will be considered. (a) The preparation: the word-drill. Word-study as compared with silent reading; the use of the dictionary. (b) Vocal expression: Faults of expression: Causes; How corrected? Correlation of reading with other subjects.

2. Spelling.

Selection of words for primary grades: division of words into syllables; the part pronunciation plays in spelling. Value of dictation lessons. Desirability of having children keep lists of their own misspelled words for frequent review. Spelling games and spelling matches.

Methods of teaching other subjects are discussed in the several departments in connection with the subject matter.

PENMANSHIP

One period per week for two Semesters

There are two aims in this course. The first is to develop a legible, easy and rapid handwriting. This is accomplished by hygienic position of the body, correct penholding, movement drills and analysis of form. Uniform height, even spacing, neatness and arrangement of work receive special attention.

The second is to teach the method of presentation. Considerable blackboard practice is given with emphasis on position. The quality of paper, size and type of pen and holder, writing implements in the different grades, objects to be sought in the lower and upper grades, time devoted to penmanship and its relation to other studies are carefully considered.

The various systems are compared, showing their adequacy or inadequacy to meet the demands of the child's later life.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION

Thirty hours for one Semester

The first part of this course presents briefly the educational principles of Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, Herbart and Spencer. The remainder is devoted to a study of special types of present-day schools; i. e., Gary schools, the platoon system, the junior high school, schools for defective and backward children, vocational and other schools. Instruction is given by textbooks, lectures, and by visits to typical schools in the vicinity.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION

Five hours per week for one Semester

Part I. Grammar and Composition.

Grammar. The study of sentences and their structure, the study of phrases and clauses. Analysis of sentences. Words classified according to function. Fundamental principles of technical grammar. The work in English grammar largely inductive. Professional aspects of teaching the subject. Laboratory methods and their value.

Composition. Exercises in narration, exposition, description and argument. The study of the paragraph. The principles of unity, coherence and emphasis. Variety in sentence; exercises in changing the form of expressions. Oral composition. Versification.

Part II. Language in the Elementary Grades. Aim—to develop power of expression.

Language methods. Oral language; reproductive and imaginative composition. Conversation exercises, with special attention to correct forms of speech, enlargements of vocabulary and choice of words. Reports of experiences outside of school. Story-telling. Picture-study to stimulate expression. Written language; form lessons, thought lessons. Letter-writing, story-writing. Dictation lessons. Study and imitation of models. Dramatization; practical application. Action games. Criticism and correction of written work. Correlations of language with other subjects. Examination of available textbooks for the grades. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of language for the elementary grades.

LITERATURE

Four hours per week for one Semester

The aim of this course is to bring students to an appreciation of the nature of literature and its relation to life, in order that they may know what should be their aim in presenting literature, and what should control their choice of literature in the elementary grades.

The course is divided into Parts I and II.

Part I. The following types of literature are studied: (1) The epic, the Odyssey (Bryant's translation); the ballad epic, Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; a brief study of the transition from the epic to the lyric and the dramatic, a study of the fundamental relation of form to the life it embodies and expresses. (2) The lyric, Seward's Narrative and Lyrical Poems for Students. (3) The dramatic, Shakespeare's Tempest. (4) The short story, appreciation of such masters as Irving, Poe, Hawthorne, Stevenson and Kipling.

Part II. The reading of literature suitable for use in elementary grades. Courses in literature for the elementary schools developed. The method of presentation of literature, illustrated by actual lesson-plans prepared for different grades as directed; class discussion of these lesson-plans. Pedagogical significance of myths, fables, fairy-tales, folk-tales, legends and hero-stories. The choice of stories, the essential qualities of a story for children; the art of story-telling; principles of method, manner and voice. The character of memory selections. Poetry presented primarily as a work of art, and not in the service of any other subject. Correlations of literature —"The natural correlations of literature are with the other arts; but, above all, with the spirit of childhood, and with the consciousness of children." Dramatization and the dramatic representation of literary selections. Literary programs for special days. The school library. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of literature for the elementary grades.

MATHEMATICS

Two periods per week for the first Semester

Two periods per week in Junior A and Senior B Semesters

The aim of this course is to equip teachers thoroughly for the work of the grades. This will require a wider and more theoretic knowledge of the graded school mathematics; a knowledge of the history and pedagogy of the subject; a knowledge of the nature of the problems encountered in the activities of children and in the world's work.

(a) ARITHMETIC.—This course will seek to develop quickness in oral work not only with small numbers, but with numbers of two and three figures; power to form close estimates of the results required in a problem without actual computation; accuracy, rapidity and economy in computation; accuracy of statement in the written or oral analysis of a problem. This will require a careful study of all the fundamental principles upon which the act of computation depends, and also a careful study of those number relations which make possible the abridgment of work.

All topics taken in upper grammar grades will receive very careful study. The real problems encountered in many adult activities in commercial and industrial life will be studied to give students an appreciation of the uses of arithmetic and to add to their power better to interpret phases of the work which they are preparing to teach.

(b) The History of Arithmetic.—The history of the older notations; the scales of notation; the Hindoo notation; the evolution of the fundamental processes from the methods of the Hindoos; the early printed arithmetics and the growth of the subject up to the present time will be presented by lectures. Readings by the students from the histories of Ball, Fink, Cajori and others will be required. Some of the first English texts, as those of Recorde, Dilworth, Wingate, Cocker, Pike and others will be examined.

(c) The Pedagogy of Arithmetic.—A study of the pedagogy of the subject will include such topics as the educational value and aim of arithmetic; the number concept; the child's power to use the type of thought required in the use of number; the child's interests—drills, games and problems; the nature and purpose of problems; the analysis and solution of problems; heuristic method of development, etc. The course will consist of a study of the types of problems common in all the grades in public schools, lectures and assigned readings from Young's Teaching of Mathematics, Smith's Teaching of Elementary Mathematics, Smith's Teaching of Arithmetic, McMurray's Special Method in Arithmetic, Stone's Arithmetical Abilities, Jackson's Educational Significance of Sixteenth Century Arithmetic and many others. A study will also be made of older and recent textbooks and of recent courses of study.

Nature Study, Including Elementary Science

Four periods per week for two Semesters

The subject matter of this course is found in the pupils' environment, both physical and biological. So far as possible, the sequence of topics follows that of the seasons. Living material is largely used. Definitely supervised field trips supplement the assigned individual work with outdoor material.

Some autumn topics are weeds and late-blooming flowers, seed dispersal, bulb planting, trees in their leafy and winter conditions, appropriate treatment of insects and related forms, preparation of plants and animals for winter.

During the winter months an effort is made to use the nature-study method rather than the science method of approach to certain chemical and physical principles involved in much of our everyday life. The familiar articles of the home and of commercial life are used as the starting point, with an appreciation of principles appearing as a final product. Where possible, this treatment is preferred to the more common procedure of using the familiar things of life as illustrations of principles previously enunciated or developed. Some of the things considered are heat appliances (including electrical pieces) used in the household for cooking, heating, and ventilating; food preservation and adulteration; common appliances using other chemical and physical principles, as fire extinguishers, cleansers, the door bell, the lever in kitchen utensils, centrifugal action in the Babcock milk tester, capillarity in soils, filtration of drinking water; commercial appliances, as the sail, water wheel, gas expansion engines; and other materials of similar nature and lending themselves to the treatment indicated.

The viewpoint of the pupils in the upper grades of the elementary school is considered rather than that of the adult scientist. Students with a good basis of high school chemistry and physics should feel prepared by this course to handle the so-called elementary science likely to be demanded of a classroom teacher.

Some spring topics are seed testing and germination; seedlings, gardening, soils as related to plants, spring flowers, plant functions not treated in the autumn; development of frog and toad, insects and their life histories appropriate to the season; birds, their habits and protection; economic importance of the various types of life studied.

Pupils make and care for school gardens on the campus. Beyond this the handwork activities of the department outside the classroom take largely the form of "projects," chosen from a wide range of subjects.

The course includes as wide a range of observation as possible of objects which the prospective teacher may be called upon to use in her work. The flowers, trees, birds, insects are studied in such a way as to give the student a ready recognition of them and an understanding of the principles upon which their life depends. Scientific relationships are subordinated to considerations of practical use in the elementary school.

GEOGRAPHY

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The course aims to give an understanding of the control which climate, surface and other geographic factors exert over the life of man and animals upon the globe; a knowledge of and ability to use the authoritative source material available; the ability to read maps, and some of the best ways of presenting the subject to children.

The first half-year's work is devoted to a study of mathematical geography, the atmosphere, the lands, the work of running water and the oceans. As much field work as possible is done in this connection, as the school is particularly well situated for it. Books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Geography and Salisbury's Physiography.

The first half of the second semester is devoted to the study of the continent of North America and countries of Europe most closely connected with us through trade. Through this study the pupils are expected to gain an insight into the method of continent study for the grammar grades. Particular emphasis is laid upon the influence of geographic environment in determining routes of trade, location of industrial centers, and the distribution of commodities. The books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Advanced Geography, Mill's International Geography, Robinson's and Brigham's Commercial Geographies, Miss Semple's The Influence of Geographic Environment, and various government publications.

The work in methods of teaching geography is left until the last quarter in order to take advantage of the instruction in the art of questioning and in making lesson plans given in the course in pedagogy. The chief divisions of the work are a study of the content of geography; determining factors in arranging subject matter for different grades; methods of teaching as applied to subject matter determined for each grade. Each student prepares lesson plans for different grades and teaches the class.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Three periods per week for two Semesters

The course presents a general survey of the rise and development of the American nation and includes a discussion of methods of teaching history and civics in the primary and grammar grades, the question of curricula, the use of sources and illustrative material and a knowledge of historical bibliography. The chief topics studied are European influences on American colonization, the struggle for supremacy between England and France, growth of colonial institutions, the contest with England, formation and interpretation of the Constitutions of the United States and New Jersey, the development of the new nation, western expansion, conditions, parties and issues that led to the Civil War, the war and its results, present social and economic problems, labor and capital, immigration, the tariff, the United States as a world power, territorial and political expansion, municipal government and the New Jersey school system.

The course consists of lectures, recitations, special topics, assigned readings, written reviews, story-telling and class exercises in the conduct of history recitations.

THE MANUAL ARTS

Freehand Drawing—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course giving the fundamentals of simple representation and perspective. Problems will involve the foreshortened circle and circular surfaces in all positions, convergence and questions of distance, position and level. Memory drawing to cultivate a graphic vocabulary. Students will be required to prepare notebooks covering the work of the term.

Design—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course presenting the essentials of design as applied to school exercises. Applications are made to (a) borders, (b) rectangular or circular patterns, (c) landscape and still-life composition, and (d) lettering. The work is done with reference to a stated material and purpose, as rectangular pattern (clay), border (stenciling or basketry), lettering (poster).

The course includes a definite, usable discussion and demonstrations of color and tones.

Manual Training—

Two periods per week for two Semesters

Tested forms of handwork and construction for the first five or six elementary years will be used as the basis for work, as follows:

(a) Paper construction, folding and pasting.
(b) Cardboard construction, simple bookmaking, boxes, etc.
(c) Sand-table representation.
(d) Basketry—Elementary reed and raphia basketwork.
(e) Sewing for intermediate grades.

Blackboard Drawing—

A course planned to give students facility and confidence in the use of the blackboard before pupils. Exercises include simple methods of expressing rapidly and effectively a wide range of subjects.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HYGIENE

Physical Education: Three periods per week for two Semesters

Two periods per week for one Semester

Hygiene: Three periods per week for one Semester

The purpose of the course in physical training is threefold:

1. To keep each student in good physical condition and to inspire in her a thorough appreciation of the importance of health. For this purpose three weekly lectures are given throughout the first semester in principles of physiology and hygiene correlated with three hours of practical gymnastic training.

2. To teach the student to plan and conduct gymnastic lessons suitable to the schoolroom, and to be able to recognize and correct physical defects and faulty postures among children. Throughout the second year two hours a week of theory and practice are devoted to this end.

3. To give a knowledge of scientific schoolroom lighting, heating, ventilation and seating, and to train the student to recognize good or bad conditions of the same.

MUSIC

One period per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to enable the student to meet the requirements for teaching music in the public schools in the State from the primary to the highest grades.

Some of the salient features of this course are: Rote songs, Treatment of Monotones, Ear training and Interval work. Diatonic and chromatic scales—Minor scales—Class and individual sight reading—Dictation work for all grades—Time and Rhythm emphasized—Simple song forms and cadences—Elementary harmony—History of Music—Lives of famous composers—Stories of the operas—Program making and practice teaching—Chorus work—Appreciation of music taught by lectures and victrola.

II. The Kindergarten Primary Course

This course requires two years for its completion and qualifies a graduate to teach a kindergarten or one of the first four primary grades. Students are received in September or in February. They must have the same qualifications as candidates for the General course, and must also satisfy the Kindergarten director that they can sing and can play the piano well enough to conduct the music for the class from the very beginning of the term.

DETAIL OF THE KINDERGARTEN PRIMARY COURSE

THEORY:

Introductory—References: Froebel's Autobiography; Hanschmann's The Kindergarten System; Snider's Life of Froebel; Buelow's Child and Child Nature; Sully's Studies of Childhood; Kirkpatrick's Fundamentals of Child Study; Tanner's The Child.

A study of Frobel's Die mutter und Kose Lieder, as related to the work of training children.

Text: Mottoes and Commentaries, Songs and Music of Froebel's Mother Play, Blow. References: Blow's Letters to a Mother; Blow's Symbolic Education; Snider's Froebel's Mother Play Songs; Harrison's Children of the Foothills; Harrison's A Study of Child Nature; Hailmann's The Education of Man; Herford's The Students Forebel; Hughes' Froebel's Educational Laws.

PEDAGOGY OF THE KINDERGARTEN:

Froebelian Gifts—A study of the gift material as adapted to constructive and representative work. Experimentation in the use of the material.

HANDWORK:

A study of various forms of handwork, adapted to the ability of little children, including a few of the Froebelian occupations in a modified form. Practical work in the same.

Stories:

A study of classic myths, folk-tales, fables and fairy-tales, nature stories, hero stories, etc. A study of the principles of selection and of presentation of stories, with classification of stories, writing of original stories and practice in telling stories.

Games and Rhythmic Exercises:

A study of children's games and practice in playing kindergarten games. A study of interpretative rhythms and dances. Original work in the same.

Principles of Program Making:

A study of the fundamental principles underlying educational procedure. References: Dewey's The Child and the Curriculum; Bagley's The Educative Process; Blow's Educational Issues in the Kindergarten; Blow-Hill-Harrison, The Kindergarten; Atwood's Theory and Practice of the Kindergarten.

Program and Program Making:

A study of kindergarten programs and practice in developing programs for specific groups. A study of programs for Mothers' Meetings.

Subjects in the General Course:

Elementary and Genetic Psychology, History of Education, English, Nature Study, Music, Drawing, Manual Training, Pedagogy and Methods, Gymnastics, Penmanship, Physiology and Hygiene, and Primary Methods in Arithmetic, Geography and History.

Gifts

A generous gift of money from the late Edward Russ, Esq., for the decoration of the building, has enabled the school to place on its walls many photographs of men eminent in science, psychology, education and in public affairs, as well as several reproductions of the masterpieces of the great artists. At his death, Mr. Russ bequeathed to this school a large sum of money and a collection of curios and of photographs.

The class of 1910, on Commencement Day, presented a statue of Athene, which has been placed in the Assembly Hall. The class of 1911 presented "The Winged Victory." Messrs. Danufsky and Halsey, of the class of 1912, have made and placed on the grounds an artistic sun-dial. The parting gift of the class of 1912 was a statue of Diana. The class of 1913 presented photographic reproductions of three of Millet's works. The class of 1910 has recently contributed a sum of money to be used for the purchase of books for the library, and a similar gift has been made by the class of 1911. At their Commencement in June, 1914, the class of 1914 presented reproductions of Ruysdael's Windmill and The Hour of the Angelus by Perret. The classes of January and June, 1915, presented to the school an oil portrait of the present principal.

Other gifts have been a photo etching of the cathedral of Rheims from the Class of January, 1916; a photograph of James Whitcomb Riley for the English room and a handsome set of his works from the Class of January, 1917. The most recents gifts are a silk United States flag for the Assembly Hall from the Class of June, 1917, and the two bas-reliefs, "Singing Boys" of Luca della Robia, from the Class of January, 1918.

EMPLOYMENT OF GRADUATES

School superintendents and members of boards of education are invited to visit the school and to consult with the principal when they need teachers. Full records of scholarship and confidential estimates of a student's personality will always be given to school officials. Under the system of practice teaching connected with this school, one-half of each senior class may be seen at work at any time.

Historical and Descriptive

The Legislature of 1902 directed the State Board of Education to investigate the need of additional facilities for training teachers for the public schools of New Jersey. In its annual report of 1903, the Board reported that, although the New Jersey State Normal School at Trenton was filled with students, the supply of trained teachers was quite inadequate to the increasing demand and recommended that a normal school be established in the northern part of the State. In 1904 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a site. After inspecting many locations, the Board finally purchased a plot of twenty-five acres in the northern part of Montclair, Essex County. A more beautiful or healthful site could not have been chosen. The grounds have an elevation of four hundred feet above sea level and command an uninterrupted view of a landscape of remarkable beauty. The Orange range stretches away to the right, while at the front and left the Passaic valley, the Hudson, and the taller buildings of New York are plainly visible.

An appropriation of $275,000 was made by the Legislature of 1906 for the erection and equipment of a building. The mission style was adopted and a normal school building, 334 feet long and 133 feet deep, of brick covered with white stucco, was erected on the highest part of the grounds, fronting the New York landscape. The equipment is of the latest and best. The ample grounds afford opportunities for school gardens, tennis courts, and all the outdoor activities of a large normal school.

The building was dedicated September 28, 1908, by Governor John Franklin Fort and the State Board of Education. The school had been previously organized on September 15, with 187 students. Another class was received in February, 1909, to the number of 31, making the total registration in the first year 218. No advanced classes were opened the first year and no students received from any other normal school.

The New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair may be reached in the following ways:

1. By Erie Railroad—Greenwood Lake Division. The Montclair Heights station adjoins the grounds of the normal school.

2. By D., L. and W. Railroad to Montclair station, thence by Valley Road trolley to the grounds.

3. By Bloomfield Avenue trolley with transfer at Valley Road to Valley Road trolley.

4. By Autobus from Paterson.

Passengers by the Pennsylvania Railroad to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Passengers by the Central Railroad of New Jersey to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Calendar 1918-1919

The fall term began on Tuesday, September 3, 1918, and closed Friday, January 31, 1919. The school was closed Thanksgiving Day and the day following, and is closed every Saturday. A vacation was given from Tuesday, December 24, 1918, to Thursday, January 2, 1919.

The spring term began Monday, February 3, 1919, and will close June 27, 1919, with a vacation from Monday, April 14, to Friday, April 18, 1919, inclusive.

The dates of the quarters are as follows:

First quarter—September 3 to November 8, 1918.

Second quarter—November 11, 1918, to January 31, 1919.

Third quarter—February 3 to April 18, 1919.

Fourth quarter—April 21 to June 27, 1919.

New students will be registered for the next fall term at 10:15 A. M. on Tuesday, September 2, 1919. Former students will be registered at 1:00 P. M. on Tuesday, September 2, 1919. Commencement exercises will be held in the Assembly Hall on Friday, June 20, 1919.

Calendar 1919-1920

The fall term will open Tuesday, September 2, 1919, and will close Friday, January 30, 1920. The school will be closed Thanksgiving day and the day following and every Saturday. A vacation will be given from Wednesday, December 24, 1919, to Monday, January 5, 1920. The first quarter will close Friday, November 7, 1919.

No class will be formed in the Kindergarten Primary course in February unless at least ten students apply for admission to that course.

The General Aim of the School

The Montclair State Normal School is a professional school, whose single aim at present is the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools and kindergartens of the State.

The qualifications of a good teacher are both natural and acquired. The former include all that we mean by personality. In detail, these are:

1. Adaptability and tact, i. e., the ability to adjust one's self in thought, language and method to the immaturity of children.
2. A strong attraction for teaching, based on genuine love of children.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Executive ability.
5. Common sense.
6. Good health and a cheerful disposition.

One who lacks any of these natural qualifications will not teach well. Since the Normal School cannot create personality, it cannot make teachers. Its most important function is to discover, to inspire and to train the born teacher, and to fit her into her appropriate place in the schools.

There can be no academic tests of personality. The candidate for the teaching profession is admitted to the Normal School chiefly upon evidence of her intellectual ability. The condition is always implied that she may be dismissed whenever it becomes clear that she lacks conspicuously the natural qualifications of the good teacher.

To the natural teacher, however, the Montclair State Normal School offers unexcelled opportunities of acquiring that professional knowledge and technical skill which are indispensable to the best teaching.

The course of study includes the necessary elements in the training of teachers.

(1) Educational theory. The history of education, psychology, pedagogy, organization and management of schools, the principles and art of teaching, and methods.

(2) A thorough study of the subject matter of the elementary school curriculum.

(3) Observation of model teaching.

(4) Practice in teaching under expert supervision.

Requirements for Admission

Both sexes are admitted.

1. Residence. All candidates must be residents of New Jersey.

2. Age. All candidates must be at least sixteen years old.

3. Scholarship. The State Board of Education, on February 1st, 1919, passed the following resolution concerning the entrance requirements to the State Normal Schools:

Resolved, That candidates may satisfy the scholarship requirements for admission to these schools by graduation from a four-year course of a high school or private school approved by the State Board of Education; or by holding a first grade county teacher's certificate, a permanent elementary, or secondary teacher's certificate.

4. Health. All candidates must present certificates from physicians stating that they are in good health and free from all physical defects that unfit them for teaching.

The Committee on Normal Schools has voted that all candidates for admission shall be examined by a woman physician selected by the school to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for teaching; and that any student may be examined by this physician at any time in her course to determine whether her physical condition warrants her continuance in the school.

In conformity with the statute of the State requiring physical training in the public schools, the State Board of Education, on October 6, 1917, voted as follows: "That the Normal Schools Committee be instructed to inform the principals of the Normal Schools that in the opinion of this Board all students in the Normal Schools are required to take physical instruction, and that therefore none can be admitted under the law except such as are physically qualified to take such instruction as is being given."

5. Character. All candidates must present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Intention to teach. At registration all students must sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of New Jersey for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that if they do not so teach they will refund to the State the cost of their education.

7. All students are admitted on probation. The principals of the State Normal Schools have been instructed by the State Board of Education to exclude from these schools at the close of the first half year such students as are unable to pass the prescribed examinations in the work of that half year, including English composition, spelling and arithmetic.

N. B.—Application blanks containing all data necessary for admission may be obtained of the principal.

High School Preparation for the Normal School

While all graduates of approved high schools and approved private secondary schools are admitted without examination, all are advised to study the following subjects in their high school courses: plane geometry, botany, physics, one foreign language, at least three years of English, United States history and civics, English history, modern European history, music, drawing, arithmetic, geography and English grammar.

High school preparation in music should consist of (a) sight reading: the ability to read at sight, true to pitch, with Latin syllables, melodies containing simple skips based on the tonic chord, in any major key, and in simple two and three-part measures; (b) ear training, the ability to recognize and match tones sung to neutral syllables, as "loo."

No student will be graduated until she reaches a high degree of proficiency in spelling. Students who are very deficient in spelling or in the mechanics of written English will fail in the work of this school.

Expenses

No charge is made for tuition or for the use of textbooks and apparatus.

Each student must provide herself with a gymnasium outfit. This consists of a pair of high white sneakers, black ballet slippers, two middy blouses, and a pair of black bloomers. The entire outfit may be purchased through the school for $8.

It is most important that no part of the outfit should be purchased without the approval of the physical director. Students with apparel already in their possession should bring it for approval on Registration Day.

Luncheon will be served at the school daily at the noon intermission at moderate prices.

The Edward Russ Hall

The late Edward Russ bequeathed a substantial sum of money to the State Board of Education for the use of the New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair. This bequest has been used in the erection of a dormitory known as the Edward Russ Hall, which was opened for boarding pupils September 16, 1915.

The building is fireproof throughout and is designed in the Spanish Mission style, with white stucco exterior walls and red Spanish tile roof, to conform in character to the present Normal School building.

The dormitory accommodates 96 students, there being 52 single rooms and 22 double rooms. Each floor is provided with ample bath and toilet-room facilities, and at each end of the hall, conveniently located, are two enclosed fireproof stairs extending from the top floor to the ground and giving ample exits.

The main floor is particularly well planned for the social requirements of a school. The living-room at one end is thirty-three feet wide and forty feet long, having at one end a reading-room, thirteen feet by thirty-two feet. This is elevated a few steps above the general level of the living-room and can be used as a stage for giving amateur plays. On one side of the living-room is a large open fireplace, which adds much to the attractiveness of the room.

At the other end of the building is the dining-room, accommodating 110 persons. This is finished in old ivory tints and has an attractive fireplace at one side of the room.

The kitchen and serving-rooms are up-to-date in every respect.

EDWARD RUSS HALL.

They are arranged with a view to the best sanitary requirements, and every convenience of a large kitchen has been installed.

On the first floor is located the matron's suite, which contains a living-room and bedroom. There is also a reception-room for visitors, and a hospital room.

The basement contains storerooms, trunk rooms and a large and well equipped laundry.

The sleeping-rooms, both single and double, are equipped with comfortable and attractive furniture. Each student has a single iron bedstead and excellent mattress, a chiffonier, a desk, a commode, an easy chair and a straight chair. Each student has a separate closet for clothing.

Dormitory Regulations

Students are not permitted to board elsewhere than at the Edward Russ Hall except by permission of the principal. This permission is limited strictly to boarding with relatives or friends in very exceptional circumstances.

The uniform rate for each boarder is two hundred and fifty dollars, payable as follows:

Five dollars when application is made; the balance to be paid in quarterly installments at the beginning of each quarter. That is, $57.50 at registration and $62.50 at the beginning of each quarter thereafter. The dates of these quarters are given on page 9.

No application for a room will be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of five dollars; if the application is rejected, this will be refunded. If the applicant withdraws more than thirty days before the opening of school, the deposit will be refunded, but otherwise it will be forfeited. Checks should be made payable to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

This charge includes board, laundry, heat, lights, and either a single or half a double room, according to the date of application.

No rebate is made for absence on Saturdays and Sundays, for illness for less than three weeks, or for expulsion or voluntary withdrawal from school during a quarter. Pupils who are ill for three weeks or more at one time will receive a drawback of $2.50 per week during such illness.

A student who withdraws from the dormitory voluntarily during a semester is responsible for the above payments for the full semester.

Students who have engaged accommodation at the dormitory should arrive on the day preceding the opening of the term.

Trunks should be marked, "Edward Russ Hall, Montclair Heights, N. J." If expressed prepaid to Montclair Heights by Wells Fargo Express Company or to Montclair by Adams Express Company, they will be delivered at the dormitory. If a student checks her trunk on her railroad ticket, it will be delivered at the dormitory by the Shepard Transfer Company of Montclair or by John Hart of Montclair Heights for fifty cents.

Each student should bring overshoes, an umbrella, a raincoat, bath towels, and two clothes bags marked distinctly with her name.

Each student is required to take care of her own room. Laundry is limited to twelve pieces per week of personal clothing, but no starched pieces are ironed. All clothing should be marked with the owner's name in indelible ink.

Except by permission of the matron, students are not permitted to go home or to leave town during term time. Permission to go home at week-ends will usually be granted on written request of parents.

Students must attend service at such church in Upper Montclair or Montclair as shall be designated by their parents.

Visitors, other than parents and fellow students, will be received at the dormitory only by permission of the matron.

Guests of students will be entertained at the dormitory at one dollar per day, if arrangements are made previously with the matron.

Courses of Instruction

No special students are admitted.

The aim of the school is distinctly professional. There are three courses of study—the General Course, the Kindergarten-

Primary Course, and a course for teachers of hygiene and physical education, all of which prepare for teaching in the public schools of New Jersey.

Graduates in the General course receive permanent Normal School certificates, to teach and to supervise teaching in any branch or department of at least the first eight years of work exclusive of the kindergarten; to be the Principal of any school of the first eight years that is under a City Superintendent; to be the Principal of a school or the schools of the first eight years in a district employing not more than nine assistant teachers and not under a local Superintendent or Supervising Principal.

Graduates in the Kindergarten-Primary course receive permanent Normal School certificates to teach and to supervise teaching in the kindergarten and in any branch or department of the first four years of school work exclusive of the kindergarten.

Graduates in the course of hygiene and physical education receive permanent certificates to teach or to supervise physical training in the public schools of New Jersey.

These certificates are endorsable without examination in most States.

I. The General Course

The General course requires two years or two and one-half years for its completion, according to the qualification and circumstances of the individual student.

A student of ability, in good health, boarding in Montclair or commuting daily for a short distance, may complete this course in two years, provided she has had in the high school the subjects recommended on page 15.

Students who lack these qualifications, or who commute daily for a considerable distance, or who have not taken in the high school all the subjects recommended on page 15, will find it impossible to complete the General course in less than two and one-half years.

All students who can do so are advised to take the longer time.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

At registration, each student may elect to take the General course in two years or in two and one-half years, according to the following programs:

Detail of the General Course of Study

PSYCHOLOGY

(a) ELEMENTARY PSYCHOLOGY

Three periods per week in the Junior B Semester

The course in Elementary Psychology includes (1) a study of the psychological organism of the brain and nervous system; the nature and training of the special senses, and the less complex phases of perception, memory, imagination, thought, the emotions, habits and the will, and the nature of their development during the elementary school period. (2) Studies in the personal reminiscences of the students, to give them practice in the analysis of subjective mental phenomena and to deepen and broaden their concepts of the subjective states of childhood. (3) Reading and reviews of certain standard reminiscent studies of childhood, such as Pierre Loti's Story of a Child; Tolstoi's Childhood, Boyhood and Youth; John Stuart Mill's Autobiography; Helen Keller's Story of My Life. The texts used in the course of Elementary Psychology are Angell's Psychology, Calkin's First Book of Psychology, Pillsbury's Essentials of Psychology. Reference use is also made of the standard texts of James, Judd, Titchener, Ziehen, Thorndike, Royce and Donaldson.

(b) GENETIC PSYCHOLOGY

Two periods a week in Junior A and Senior B Semesters

This is an advanced course, as an outgrowth of the course in Elementary Psychology, and covers one year of two periods a week. The purpose of the course is (1) to apply the facts learned in Elementary Psychology to the training of children; (2) to present, so far as they have been scientifically determined, facts concerning the nature and development of the mind during childhood and adolescence, and (3) to provide the prospective teacher with sound criteria for estimating theories about the child's mind, as well as to give training in the concrete study of child life. The course includes studies in the physical, intellectual and moral development of children; factors conditioning mental development, as heredity and environment; mental fatigue and its relation to mental work; comparative studies of the minds of lower animals and savages with those of normal and defective children; the special senses, perception, memory, imagination, thought powers, emotions and motor ability. Attention is also given to the causes and extent of defective vision and hearing and methods of testing the same, together with other minor psychical abnormalities more or less common among school children, with special reference to the Binet scale for measuring intelligence and its adaptation to American needs and conditions. An important feature of the course is the use of standardized educational measurements and a study of scales and tests that have been found useful in determining more scientifically the abilities and accomplishments of children. The students are familiarized with objective units of measurements, methods of determining central tendency, variability, and correlation, with special application of the same to the learning process during the elementary school period.

Educational Principles Applied to Teaching

Four periods per week in Senior B Semester

The aim of the course is (a) to make students familiar with the aims of education and with the educational principles underlying the teaching process; (b) to make them able to apply these principles to school-room procedure and class management, to the selection and organization of subject matter, and to the choice and application of methods to be used in teaching.

The following topics will be considered: (1) The aims of education as presented in various periods and a special analysis of the social aim—its effects on habits, selection of subject-matter, methods and ideals.

(2) Place of the school in the teaching process.

(3) Part played by physical development and formation of moral habits in the social aim.

(4) Method of securing class interest in the recitation as derived from the social aim.

(5) Class management in light of above aim.

(6) The necessity of considering the child as the starting point in education.

(7) Varieties of lessons depending upon the particular purpose to be accomplished; the inductive development lesson (five formal steps); the deductive development lesson; recitation lesson; drill lesson; review lesson; study lesson. The teaching of definitions; the topical method; method of narration; of explanation, etc., with aim and procedure for each. The use and method of textbooks in study assignments and in the recitation.

(8) The art of questioning in the recitation.

(9) Application of the above principles to school-room observation and to preparation for practice teaching. Lesson plans by students with special attention to aim of lesson, steps to be considered, activities desired.

The course will consist of lectures, assigned readings, discussions, papers, reports of observation and lesson plans.

SPECIAL METHODS

Three periods a week in Senior B Semester

This course aims to teach students to apply the principles of education as considered in the more general course to methods in reading and spelling.

1. Reading (a) Something of the history of reading as to selection of material and methods used. (b) Present-day standards for choice of subject matter. (c) Methods: A discussion of the word, sentence and phonic methods. Discussions of other more recent methods which are combinations of the above, as Rational, New Education, Natural, Nursery and Aldine; correlation of drawing, story, dramatization with reading in the primary grades; a study of phonetics. Lesson plans and the presentation of an ideal method by each student. Methods for intermediate grades will be considered. (a) The preparation: the word-drill. Word-study as compared with silent reading; the use of the dictionary. (b) Vocal expression: Faults of expression: Causes; How corrected? Correlation of reading with other subjects.

2. Spelling.

Selection of words for primary grades: division of words into syllables; the part pronunciation plays in spelling. Value of dictation lessons. Desirability of having children keep lists of their own misspelled words for frequent review. Spelling games and spelling matches.

Methods of teaching other subjects are discussed in the several departments in connection with the subject matter.

PENMANSHIP

One period per week for two Semesters

There are two aims in this course. The first is to develop a legible, easy and rapid handwriting. This is accomplished by hygienic position of the body, correct penholding, movement drills and analysis of form. Uniform height, even spacing, neatness and arrangement of work receive special attention.

The second is to teach the method of presentation. Considerable blackboard practice is given with emphasis on position. The quality of paper, size and type of pen and holder, writing implements in the different grades, objects to be sought in the lower and upper grades, time devoted to penmanship and its relation to other studies are carefully considered.

The various systems are compared, showing their adequacy or inadequacy to meet the demands of the child's later life.

History of Education

Thirty hours for one Semester

The first part of this course presents briefly the educational principles of Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, Herbart and Spencer. The remainder is devoted to a study of special types of present-day schools; i. e., Gary schools, the platoon system, the junior high school, schools for defective and backward children, vocational and other schools. Instruction is given by textbooks, lectures, and by visits to typical schools in the vicinity.

English Grammar and Composition

Five hours per week for one Semester

Part I. Grammar and Composition.

Grammar. The study of sentences and their structure, the study of phrases and clauses. Analysis of sentences. Words classified according to function. Fundamental principles of technical grammar. The work in English grammar largely inductive. Professional aspects of teaching the subject. Laboratory methods and their value.

Composition. Exercises in narration, exposition, description and argument. The study of the paragraph. The principles of unity, coherence and emphasis. Variety in sentence; exercises in changing the form of expressions. Oral composition. Versification.

Part II. Language in the Elementary Grades. Aim—to develop power of expression.

Language methods. Oral language; reproductive and imaginative composition. Conversation exercises, with special attention to correct forms of speech, enlargements of vocabulary and choice of words. Reports of experiences outside of school. Story-telling. Picture-study to stimulate expression. Written language; form lessons, thought lessons. Letter-writing, story-writing. Dictation lessons. Study and imitation of models. Dramatization; practical application. Action games. Criticism and correction of written work. Correlations of language with other subjects. Examination of available textbooks for the grades. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of language for the elementary grades.

Literature

Four hours per week for one Semester

The aim of this course is to bring students to an appreciation of the nature of literature and its relation to life, in order that they may know what should be their aim in presenting literature, and what should control their choice of literature in the elementary grades.

The course is divided into Parts I and II.

Part I. The following types of literature are studied: (1) The epic, the Odyssey (Bryant's translation); the ballad epic, Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; a brief study of the transition from the epic to the lyric and the dramatic, a study of the fundamental relation of form to the life it embodies and expresses. (2) The lyric, Seward's Narrative and Lyrical Poems for Students. (3) The dramatic, Shakespeare's Tempest. (4) The short story, appreciation of such masters as Irving, Poe, Hawthorne, Stevenson and Kipling.

Part II. The reading of literature suitable for use in elementary grades. Courses in literature for the elementary schools developed. The method of presentation of literature, illustrated by actual lesson-plans prepared for different grades as directed; class discussion of these lesson-plans. Pedagogical significance of myths, fables, fairy-tales, folk-tales, legends and hero-stories. The choice of stories, the essential qualities of a story for children; the art of story-telling; principles of method, manner and voice. The character of memory selections. Poetry presented primarily as a work of art, and not in the service of any other subject. Correlations of literature —"The natural correlations of literature are with the other arts; but, above all, with the spirit of childhood, and with the consciousness of children." Dramatization and the dramatic representation of literary selections. Literary programs for special days. The school library. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of literature for the elementary grades.

MATHEMATICS

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to equip teachers thoroughly for the work of the grades. Two semesters are spent upon the subject matter to be taught, presented from a more mature and theoretic point of view than that of the graded or high school; one semester upon the pedagogy of the subject. The work of all three semesters, however, deals very largely with the best methods of presenting the work to pupils in the grades.

(a) THE JUNIOR B COURSE.—This course seeks to develop quickness in oral work; accuracy, rapidity, and economy in computation; accuracy of statement in the written or oral analysis of a problem.

A careful study is made of the fundamental principles upon which computation with whole numbers, fractions and decimals depend; and as much drill work is given as time will permit. Considerable time is given to the analysis and solution of problems involving decimals.

A careful study also is made of the measurement of areas and volumes. The rules and principles are developed objectively and applied to practical problems.

The work is based upon the first six chapters of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(b) THE JUNIOR A COURSE.—This course is devoted entirely to a study of percentage and its applications.

The first half of the semester is devoted to a general use of per cent, as expressing relations; and the aim is to develop power to interpret relations expressed in terms of per cent, and to express relations as per cent.

The second half of the semester aims to give the pupil a social insight into business terms, processes, and problems. This includes a study of profit and loss; commercial discount; commission and brokerage; interest and bank discount; banking; stock investments; bond investments; taxes; and insurance.

The work of the semester is based upon Chapter VIII of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(c) THE SENIOR B COURSE.—This course is devoted to the pedagogy of the subject. It includes a study of the aim of a course in arithmetic; a study of the methods of motivating the work; the planning of the daily lesson; the purpose and nature of problems; the use of games in primary number work; a study of "standard tests"; and a careful study of methods of presenting the work of each of the eight grades.

Some time is spent in studying courses of study and recent textbooks.

The work of the semester is based upon Stone's Teaching of Arithmetic.

NATURE-STUDY, INCLUDING ELEMENTARY SCIENCE.

Four periods per week for two Semesters

The subject matter of this course is found in the pupils' environment, both physical and biological. So far as possible, the sequence of topics follows that of the seasons. Living material is largely used. Definitely supervised field trips supplement the assigned individual work with outdoor material.

Some autumn topics are weeds and late-blooming flowers, seed dispersal, bulb planting, trees in their leafy and winter conditions, appropriate treatment of insects and related forms, preparation of plants and animals for winter.

During the winter months an effort is made to use the nature-study method rather than the science method of approach to certain chemical and physical principles involved in much of our everyday life. The familiar articles of the home and of commercial life are used as the starting point, with an appreciation of principles appearing as a final product. Where possible, this treatment is preferred to the more common procedure of using the familiar things of life as illustrations of principles previously enunciated or developed. Some of the things considered are heat appliances (including electrical pieces) used in the household for cooking, heating, and ventilating; food preservation and adulteration; common appliances using other chemical and physical principles, as fire extinguishers, cleansers, the door bell, the lever in kitchen utensils, centrifugal action in the Babcock milk tester, capillarity in soils, filtration of drinking water; commercial appliances, as the sail, water wheel, gas expansion engines; and other materials of similar nature lending themselves to the treatment indicated.

The viewpoint of the pupils in the upper grades of the elementary school is considered rather than that of the adult scientist. Students with a good basis of high school chemistry and physics should feel prepared by this course to handle the so-called elementary science likely to be demanded of a classroom teacher.

Some spring topics are seed testing and germination; seedlings, gardening, soils as related to plants, spring flowers, plant functions not treated in the autumn; development of frog and toad, insects and their life histories appropriate to the season; birds, their habits and protection; economic importance of the various types of life studied.

Pupils make and care for school gardens on the campus. Beyond this the handwork activities of the department outside the classroom take largely the form of "projects," chosen from a wide range of subjects.

The course includes as wide a range of observation as possible of objects which the prospective teacher may be called upon to use in her work. The flowers, trees, birds, insects are studied in such a way as to give the student a ready recognition of them and an understanding of the principles upon which their life depends. Scientific relationships are subordinated to considerations of practical use in the elementary school.

GEOGRAPHY

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The course aims to give an understanding of the control which climate, surface and other geographic factors exert over the life of man and animals upon the globe; a knowledge of and ability to use the authoritative source material available; the ability to read maps, and some of the best ways of presenting the subject to children.

The first half-year's work is devoted to a study of mathematical geography, the atmosphere, the lands, the work of running water and the oceans. As much field work as possible is done in this connection, as the school is particularly well situated for it. Books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Geography and Salisbury's Physiography.

The first half of the second semester is devoted to the study of the continent of North America and countries of Europe most closely connected with us through trade. Through this study the pupils are expected to gain an insight into the method of continent study for the grammar grades. Particular emphasis is laid upon the influence of geographic environment in determining routes of trade, location of industrial centers, and the distribution of commodities. The books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Advanced Geography, Mill's International Geography, Robinson's and Brigham's Commercial Geographies, Miss Semple's The Influence of Geographic Environment, and various government publications.

The work in methods of teaching geography is left until the last quarter in order to take advantage of the instruction in the art of questioning and in making lesson plans given in the course in pedagogy. The chief divisions of the work are a study of the content of geography; determining factors in arranging subject matter for different grades; methods of teaching as applied to subject matter determined for each grade. Each student prepares lesson plans for different grades and teaches the class.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Three periods per week for two Semesters

The course presents a general survey of the rise and development of the American nation and includes a discussion of methods of teaching history and civics in the primary and grammar grades, the question of curricula, the use of sources and illustrative material and a knowledge of historical bibliography. The chief topics studied are European influences on American colonization, the struggle for supremacy between England and France, growth of colonial institutions, the contest with England, formation and interpretation of the Constitutions of the United States and New Jersey, the development of the new nation, western expansion, conditions, parties and issues that led to the Civil War, the war and its results, present social and economic problems, labor and capital, immigration, the tariff, the United States as a world power, territorial and political expansion, municipal government and the New Jersey school system.

The course consists of lectures, recitations, special topics, assigned readings, written reviews, story-telling and class exercises in the conduct of history recitations.

THE MANUAL ARTS

Freehand Drawing—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course giving the fundamentals of simple representation and perspective. Problems will involve the foreshortened circle and circular surfaces in all positions, convergence and questions of distance, position and level. Memory drawing to cultivate a graphic vocabulary. Students will be required to prepare notebooks covering the work of the term.

Design—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course presenting the essentials of design as applied to school exercises. Applications are made to (a) borders, (b) rectangular or circular patterns, (c) landscape and still-life composition, and (d) lettering. The work is done with reference to a stated material and purpose, as rectangular pattern (clay), border (stenciling or basketry), lettering (poster).

The course includes a definite, usable discussion and demonstrations of color and tones.

Manual Training—

Two periods per week for two Semesters

Tested forms of handwork and construction for the first five or six elementary years will be used as the basis for work, as follows:

(a) Paper construction, folding and pasting.
(b) Cardboard construction, simple bookmaking, boxes, etc.
(c) Sand-table representation.
(d) Basketry—Elementary reed and raphia basketwork.
(e) Sewing for intermediate grades.

Blackboard Drawing—

One period per week for one Semester

A course planned to give students facility and confidence in the use of the blackboard before pupils. Exercises include simple methods of expressing rapidly and effectively a wide range of subjects.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HYGIENE

Physical Education: Three periods per week for two Semesters

Two periods per week for one Semester

Hygiene: Three periods per week for one Semester

The purpose of the course in physical training is threefold:

1. To keep each student in good physical condition and to inspire in her a thorough appreciation of the importance of health. For this purpose three weekly lectures are given throughout the first semester in principles of physiology and hygiene correlated with three hours of practical gymnastic training.

2. To teach the student to plan and to conduct gymnastic lessons suitable to the schoolroom, and to be able to recognize and to correct physical defects and faulty postures among children. Throughout the second year two hours a week of theory and practice are devoted to this end.

3. To give a knowledge of scientific schoolroom lighting, heating, ventilation and seating, and to train the student to recognize good or bad conditions of the same.

MUSIC

One period per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to enable the student to meet the requirements for teaching music in the public schools in the State from the primary to the highest grades.

Some of the salient features of this course are: Rote songs, Treatment of Monotones, Ear training and Interval work. Diatonic and chromatic scales—Minor scales—Class and individual sight reading—Dictation work for all grades—Time and Rhythm emphasized—Simple song forms and cadences—Elementary harmony—History of Music—Lives of famous composers—Stories of the operas—Program making and practice teaching—Chorus work—Appreciation of music taught by lectures and victrola.

II. The Kindergarten Primary Course

This course requires two years for its completion and qualifies a graduate to teach a kindergarten or one of the first four primary grades. Students are received in September or in February. They must have the same qualifications as candidates for the General course, and must also satisfy the Kindergarten director that they can sing and can play the piano well enough to conduct the music for the class from the very beginning of the term.

SUBJECTS IN THE GENERAL COURSE:

Elementary and Genetic Psychology, History of Education, English, Nature Study, Music, Drawing, Manual Training, Pedagogy and Methods, Gymnastics, Penmanship, Physiology and Hygiene, and Primary Methods in Arithmetic, Geography and History.

III. Graduate Course in Hygiene and Physical Education

This course has been established in order to train teachers to meet the requirements of the physical education law of New Jersey, known as the Pierson Act, Public Laws 1917, Chapter 107.

The course requires one year for its completion. It is open to residents of the State of New Jersey who are graduates of New Jersey State Normal Schools or of other State normal schools having courses of equivalent value.

Candidates must pass a physical examination conducted by the school physician, must be able to sing, must have a good sense of rhythm, and must give promise of success in the department.

Graduates of this course receive a permanent State certificate to teach or to supervise physical training in any public school in the State of New Jersey.

Entrance may be made in September only.

GIFTS

A generous gift of money from the late Edward Russ, Esq., for the decoration of the building has enabled the school to place on its walls many photographs of men eminent in science, psychology, education, and in public affairs, as well as several reproductions of the masterpieces of great artists. At his death, Mr. Russ bequeathed to this school a collection of curios and of photographs and the substantial sum of money which has taken permanent form in Edward Russ Hall.

Many other gifts now adorn the building, having been presented to the school by the different classes upon their graduation and at various times after graduation. These gifts are as follows:

Class of 1910—Statue of Athene.
Books for the library.
Class of 1911—Cast of the Winged Victory of Samothrace.
Pictures for the Kindergarten.
Class of 1912—Statue of Diana.
Sun dial, the work of Messrs. Danufsky and Halsey, of the class of 1912.
Class of 1913—Photographs of three Millet paintings. In 1915 this class also furnished the hospital room at Edward Russ Hall.
Class of 1914—Photographs of Ruysdael's Windmill and The Hour of the Angelus by Perret.
Classes of January and June, 1915—An oil portrait of the present principal.
Class of June, 1916—Bronze shield with educational motto.

Class of January, 1917—Photograph of James Whitcomb Riley and a set of his works for the library.
Class of June, 1917—Silk United States presentation flag.
Class of January, 1918—Two bas-reliefs—"Singing Boys" of Luca della Robbia.
Class of June, 1918—Two bas-reliefs.
Class of January, 1919—Three photographs, one of the cathedral of Amiens, and two of the modern Dutch school.

Alumni Reunion

On June 8th, 1918, the eighth annual reunion of the Alumni was held at the Normal School, in honor of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the school. Class reunions were held in the morning, luncheon was served at noon, and in the afternoon a meeting was held in the Assembly Hall, followed by an out-of-doors play by the undergraduates of the school. The following officers were elected for the year 1918–1919:

President, ... Helen May Pryor, 1910
Vice-President, ... Dorothea Burrage Lauterborn, 1912
Secretary, ... Leila A. Clark, 1914
Treasurer, ... Isabel Holmes Rayner, 1917

Executive Committee

Mrs. Mary Scanlon Walcutt, 1910
M. Gertrude Robinson, 1911
C. Elizabeth Doig, 1916
H. Louise Cottrell, 1914

Employment of Graduates

School superintendents and members of boards of education are invited to visit the school and to consult with the principal when they need teachers. Full records of scholarship and confidential estimates of a student's personality will always be given to school officials. Under the system of practice teaching connected with this school, one-half of each senior class may be seen at work at any time.

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE

The Legislature of 1902 directed the State Board of Education to investigate the need of additional facilities for training teachers for the public schools of New Jersey. In its annual report of 1903, the Board reported that, although the New Jersey State Normal School at Trenton was filled with students, the supply of trained teachers was quite inadequate to the increasing demand and recommended that a normal school be established in the northern part of the State. In 1904 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a site. After inspecting many locations, the Board finally purchased a plot of twenty-five acres in the northern part of Montclair, Essex County. A more beautiful or healthful site could not have been chosen. The grounds have an elevation of four hundred feet above sea level and command an uninterrupted view of a landscape of remarkable beauty. The Orange range stretches away to the right, while at the front and left the Passaic valley, the Hudson, and the taller buildings of New York are plainly visible.

An appropriation of $275,000 was made by the Legislature of 1906 for the erection and equipment of a building. The mission style was adopted and a normal school building, 334 feet long and 133 feet deep, of brick covered with white stucco, was erected on the highest part of the grounds, fronting the New York landscape. The equipment is of the latest and best. The ample grounds afford opportunities for school gardens, tennis courts, and all the outdoor activities of a large normal school.

The building was dedicated September 28, 1908, by Governor John Franklin Fort and the State Board of Education. The school had been previously organized on September 15, with 187 students. Another class was received in February, 1909, to the number of 31, making the total registration in the first year 218. No advanced classes were opened the first year and no students received from any other normal school.

The New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair may be reached in the following ways:

1. By Erie Railroad—Greenwood Lake Division. The Montclair Heights station adjoins the grounds of the normal school.

2. By D., L. and W. Railroad to Montclair station, thence by Valley Road trolley to the grounds.

3. By Bloomfield Avenue trolley with transfer at Valley Road to Valley Road trolley.

4. By Autobus from Paterson and Montclair, also by autobus from Newark.

Passengers by the Pennsylvania Railroad to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Passengers by the Central Railroad of New Jersey to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

The General Aim of the School

The Montclair State Normal School is a professional school, whose single aim at present is the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools and kindergartens of the State.

The qualifications of a good teacher are both natural and acquired. The former include all that we mean by personality. In detail, these are:

1. Adaptability and tact, i. e., the ability to adjust one's self in thought, language and method to the immaturity of children.
2. A strong attraction for teaching, based on genuine love of children.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Executive ability.
5. Common sense.
6. Good health and a cheerful disposition.

One who lacks any of these natural qualifications will not teach well. Since the Normal School cannot create personality, it cannot make teachers. Its most important function is to discover, to inspire and to train the born teacher, and to fit her into her appropriate place in the schools.

There can be no academic tests of personality. The candidate for the teaching profession is admitted to the Normal School chiefly upon evidence of her intellectual ability. The condition is always implied that she may be dismissed whenever it becomes clear that she lacks conspicuously the natural qualifications of the good teacher.

To the natural teacher, however, the Montclair State Normal School offers unexcelled opportunities of acquiring that professional knowledge and technical skill which are indispensable to the best teaching.

The course of study includes the necessary elements in the training of teachers.

(1) Educational theory. The history of education, psychology, pedagogy, organization and management of schools, the principles and art of teaching, and methods.

(2) A thorough study of the subject matter of the elementary school curriculum.

(3) Observation of model teaching.

(4) Practice in teaching under expert supervision.

Requirements for Admission

Both sexes are admitted.

1. Residence. All candidates must be residents of New Jersey.

2. Age. All candidates must be at least sixteen years old.

3. Scholarship. The State Board of Education, on February 1st, 1919, passed the following resolution concerning the entrance requirements to the State Normal Schools:

Resolved, That candidates may satisfy the scholarship requirements for admission to these schools by graduation from a four-year course of a high school or private school approved by the State Board of Education; or by holding a first grade county teacher's certificate, a permanent elementary, or secondary teacher's certificate.

4. Health. All candidates must present certificates from physicians stating that they are in good health and free from all physical defects that unfit them for teaching.

The Committee on Normal Schools has voted that all candidates for admission shall be examined by a woman physician selected by the school to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for teaching; and that any student may be examined by this physician at any time in her course to determine whether her physical condition warrants her continuance in the school.

In conformity with the statute of the State requiring physical training in the public schools, the State Board of Education, on October 6, 1917, voted as follows: "That the Normal Schools Committee be instructed to inform the principals of the Normal Schools that in the opinion of this Board all students in the Normal Schools are required to take physical instruction, and that therefore none can be admitted under the law except such as are physically qualified to take such instruction as is being given."

5. Character. All candidates must present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Intention to teach. At registration all students must sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of New Jersey for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that if they do not so teach they will refund to the State the cost of their education.

7. All students are admitted on probation. The principals of the State Normal Schools have been instructed by the State Board of Education to exclude from these schools at the close of the first half year such students as are unable to pass the prescribed examinations in the work of that half year, including English composition, spelling and arithmetic.

N. B.—Application blanks containing all data necessary for admission may be obtained of the principal.

High School Preparation for the Normal School

While all graduates of approved high schools and approved private secondary schools are admitted without examination, all are advised to study the following subjects in their high school courses: plane geometry, botany, physics, one foreign language, at least three years of English, United States history and civics, English history, modern European history, music, drawing, arithmetic, geography and English grammar.

High school preparation in music should consist of (a) sight reading: the ability to read at sight, true to pitch, with Latin syllables, melodies containing simple skips based on the tonic chord, in any major key, and in simple two and three-part measures; (b) ear training, the ability to recognize and match tones sung to neutral syllables, as "loo."

No student will be graduated until she reaches a high degree of proficiency in spelling. Students who are very deficient in spelling or in the mechanics of written English will fail in the work of this school.

Expenses

No charge is made for tuition or for the use of textbooks and apparatus.

Each student must provide herself with a gymnasium outfit. This consists of a pair of high white sneakers, black ballet slippers, two middy blouses, and a pair of black bloomers. The entire outfit may be purchased through the school for $8.

It is most important that no part of the outfit should be purchased without the approval of the physical director. Students with apparel already in their possession should bring it for approval on Registration Day.

Luncheon will be served at the school daily at the noon intermission at moderate prices.

THE EDWARD RUSS HALL

The late Edward Russ bequeathed a substantial sum of money to the State Board of Education for the use of the New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair. This bequest has been used in the erection of a dormitory known as the Edward Russ Hall, which was opened for boarding pupils September 16, 1915.

The building is fireproof throughout and is designed in the Spanish Mission style, with white stucco exterior walls and red Spanish tile roof, to conform in character to the present Normal School building.

The dormitory accommodates 96 students, there being 52 single rooms and 22 double rooms. Each floor is provided with ample bath and toilet-room facilities, and at each end of the hall, conveniently located, are two enclosed fireproof stairs extending from the top floor to the ground and giving ample exits.

The main floor is particularly well planned for the social requirements of a school. The living-room is thirty-three feet wide and forty feet long, having at one end a reading-room, thirteen feet by thirty-two feet. This is elevated a few steps above the general level of the living-room and can be used as a stage for giving amateur plays. On one side of the living-room is a large open fireplace, which adds much to the attractiveness of the room.

At the other end of the building is the dining-room, accommodating 110 persons. This is finished in old ivory tints and has an attractive fireplace at one side of the room.

The kitchen and serving-rooms are up-to-date in every respect. They are arranged with a view to the best sanitary requirements, and every convenience of a large kitchen has been installed.

On the first floor is located the matron's suite, which contains a living-room and bedroom. There is also a reception-room for visitors, and a hospital room.

The basement contains storerooms, trunk rooms and a large and well equipped laundry.

The sleeping-rooms, both single and double, are equipped with comfortable and attractive furniture. Each student has a single iron bedstead and excellent mattress, a chiffonier, a desk, a commode, an easy chair and a straight chair. Each student has a separate closet for clothing.

EDWARD RUSS HALL.

Dormitory Regulations

Students are not permitted to board elsewhere than at the Edward Russ Hall except by permission of the principal. This permission is limited strictly to boarding with relatives or friends in very exceptional circumstances.

Beginning February 1, 1920, the uniform rate for each boarder is $275 per annum, payable as follows: $5.00 when application is made; the balance in quarterly installments at the beginning of each quarter; that is, $63.75 at registration, and $68.75 at the beginning of each quarter thereafter. The dates of these quarters are given on page 9.

No application for a room will be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of five dollars; if the application is rejected, this will be refunded. If the applicant withdraws more than thirty days before the opening of school, the deposit will be refunded, but otherwise it will be forfeited. Checks should be made payable to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

This charge includes board, laundry, heat, lights, and either a single or half a double room, according to the date of application.

No rebate is made for absence on Saturdays and Sundays, for illness for less than three weeks, or for expulsion or voluntary withdrawal from school during a quarter. Pupils who are ill for three weeks or more at one time will receive a drawback of $2.50 per week during such illness.

A student who withdraws from the dormitory voluntarily during a semester is responsible for the above payments for the full semester.

Students who have engaged accommodation at the dormitory should arrive on the day preceding the opening of the term.

Trunks should be marked, "Edward Russ Hall, Montclair Heights, N. J." If expressed prepaid to Montclair Heights by Wells Fargo Express Company or to Montclair by Adams Express Company, they will be delivered at the dormitory. If a student checks her trunk on her railroad ticket, it will be delivered at the dormitory by the Shepard Transfer Company of Montclair or by John Hart of Montclair Heights.

Each student should bring overshoes, an umbrella, a raincoat, bath towels, and two clothes bags marked distinctly with her name.

Each student is required to take care of her own room. Laundry is limited to twelve pieces per week of personal clothing, but no starched pieces are ironed. All clothing should be marked with the owner's name in indelible ink.

Except by permission of the matron, students are not permitted to go home or to leave town during term time. Permission to go home at week-ends will usually be granted on written request of parents.

Students must attend service at such church in Upper Montclair or Montclair as shall be designated by their parents.

Visitors, other than parents and fellow students, will be received at the dormitory only by permission of the matron.

Guests of students will be entertained at the dormitory at one dollar per day, if arrangements are made previously with the matron.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

No special students are admitted.

The aim of the school is distinctly professional.

Students are prepared to teach in the elementary schools or kindergartens of the State. There are two courses of study—the General Course and the Kindergarten-Primary Course.

Graduates in the General course receive permanent Normal School certificates, to teach and to supervise teaching in any branch or department of at least the first eight years of work exclusive of the kindergarten; to be the Principal of any school of the first eight years that is under a City Superintendent; to be the Principal of a school or the schools of the first eight years in a district employing not more than nine assistant teachers and not under a local Superintendent or Supervising Principal.

Graduates in the Kindergarten-Primary course receive permanent Normal School certificates to teach and to supervise teaching in the kindergarten and in any branch or department of the first four years of school work exclusive of the kindergarten.

These certificates are endorsable without examination in most States.

I. The General Course

The General course requires two years or two and one-half years for its completion, according to the qualification and circumstances of the individual student.

A student of ability, in good health, boarding in Montclair or commuting daily for a short distance, may complete this course in two years, provided she has had in the high school the subjects recommended on page 15.

Students who lack these qualifications, or who commute daily for a considerable distance, or who have not taken in the high school all the subjects recommended on page 15, will find it impossible to complete the General course in less than two and one-half years.

All students who can do so are advised to take the longer time.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

At registration, each student may elect to take the General course in two years or in two and one-half years, according to the following programs:

DETAIL OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

PSYCHOLOGY

(a) ELEMENTARY PSYCHOLOGY

Three periods per week in the Junior B Semester

The course in Elementary Psychology is designed to give the student a fundamental understanding of the normal conscious experience, scientifically considered; (a) as a basis for the course in Genetic Psychology; (b) as a directly practical explanation of some educational principles and practices.

Topics included are:

I. Nature and Functioning of the Nervous System and of the Specific Sensory End-organs
II. Contents of Consciousness
Sensations and Emotions
III. Laws of Mental Behavior
Attention and Association
IV. Complex Mental Processes
Imagining, Perceiving, Remembering, Reasoning, Willing
V. Related Activities
Instincts and Habits

The work is conducted by means of class discussions, based on Calkins's "A First Book in Psychology" and Pillsbury's "Essentials of Psychology," and upon reference work in the standard texts of Angell, James, Judd, Titchener, Thorndike and others. The student's introspective study of his own experiences is supplemented by reading and reviews of reminiscent studies of childhood, such as Helen Keller's "The Story of My Life," Pierre Loti's "The Study of a Child," John Stuart Mill's Autobiography.

(b) GENETIC PSYCHOLOGY

Two periods a week in Junior A and Senior B Semesters

This is an advanced course, as an outgrowth of the course in Elementary Psychology, and covers one year of two periods a week. The purpose of the course is (1) to apply the facts learned in Elementary Psychology to the training of children; (2) to present, so far as they have been scientifically determined, facts concerning the nature and development of the mind during childhood and adolescence; and (3) to provide the prospective teacher with sound criteria for estimating theories about the child's mind, as well as to give training in the concrete study of child life. The course includes studies in the physical, intellectual and moral development of children; factors conditioning mental development, as heredity and environment; mental fatigue and its relation to mental work; comparative studies of the minds of lower animals and savages with those of normal and defective children; the special senses, perception, memory, imagination, thought powers, emotions and motor ability. Attention is also given to the causes and extent of defective vision and hearing and methods of testing the same, together with other minor psychical abnormalities more or less common among school children, with special reference to the Binet scale for measuring intelligence and its adaptation to American needs and conditions. An important feature of the course is the use of standardized educational measurements and a study of scales and tests that have been found useful in determining more scientifically the abilities and accomplishments of children. The students are familiarized with objective units of measurements, methods of determining central tendency, variability, and correlation, with special application of the same to the learning process during the elementary school period.

INTRODUCTION TO EDUCATION

Three periods per week in the first Semester

The aim of this course is to familiarize students at the beginning with the large principles of education, to train them to observe the procedure in their various classes, and to translate their experiences in terms of the principles studied, thus motivating their work throughout their Normal School course.

The course includes:

(1) A discussion of the various aims of education with special emphasis upon the social efficiency aim—what it includes, its effect upon choice of subject matter, upon methods, habits, discipline.

(2) A consideration of the factors which influence the teaching process—the home, the community, the school—and a discussion at length as to the place of the school with reference to the aim of education, and the right of the State to tax the individual for the schools' support, and to enforce compulsory education.

(3) A study of the origin of subject matter, of the factors which form the basis of education, of the place and function of these factors—viz., ideas, attitudes and feelings, instincts and capacities, habits—and the purposes of education with reference to these factors.

(4) A general discussion of the various forms of teaching procedure best adapted to securing the different purposes of education, viz., lecture or reading lesson, inductive, deductive, object, experiment, appreciation, assignment, recitation, study, review, drill, and examination lessons with especial emphasis upon the discussion of each as to purposes, procedure, advantages, limitations, etc.

(5) A consideration of the study lesson in detail from the standpoint of its use (1) to the student, (2) by the teacher. (An effort will be made to improve individual methods of study.)

(6) An appreciation of the content of the various courses provided in the Normal School curriculum with reference to the student's preparation for teaching, and training in the recognition of the various forms of procedure used in these classes and their value.

PEDAGOGY OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Four periods per week in Senior B Semester

The aim of the course is (a) to make students familiar with the aims of education and with the educational principles underlying the teaching process; (b) to make them able to apply these principles to school-room procedure and class management, to the selection and organization of subject matter, and to the choice and application of methods to be used in teaching.

The following topics will be considered: (1) The aims of education as presented in various periods and a special analysis of the social aim—its effects on habits, selection of subject-matter, methods and ideals.

(2) Place of the school in the teaching process.

(3) Part played by physical development and formation of moral habits in the social aim.

(4) Method of securing class interest in the recitation as derived from the social aim.

(5) Class management in light of above aim.

(6) The necessity of considering the child as the starting point in education.

(7) Varieties of lessons depending upon the particular purpose to be accomplished; the inductive development lesson (five formal steps); the deductive development lesson; recitation lesson; drill lesson; review lesson; study lesson. The teaching of definitions; the topical method; method of narration; of explanation, etc., with aim and procedure for each. The use and method of textbooks in study assignments and in the recitation.

(8) The art of questioning in the recitation.

(9) Application of the above principles to school-room observation and to preparation for practice teaching. Lesson plans by students with special attention to aim of lesson, steps to be considered, activities desired.

The course will consist of lectures, assigned readings, discussions, papers, reports of observation and lesson plans.

Reading and Spelling

Three periods a week in Senior B Semester

This course aims to teach students to apply the principles of education as considered in the more general course to methods in reading and spelling.

1. Reading (a) Something of the history of reading as to selection of material and methods used. (b) Present-day standards for choice of subject matter. (c) Methods: A discussion of the word, sentence and phonic methods. Discussions of other more recent methods which are combinations of the above, as Rational, New Education, Natural, Nursery and Aldine; correlation of drawing, story, dramatization with reading in the primary grades; a study of phonetics. Lesson plans and the presentation of an ideal method by each student. Methods for intermediate grades will be considered. (a) The preparation: the word-drill. Word-study as compared with silent reading; the use of the dictionary. (b) Vocal expression: Faults of expression: Causes; How corrected? Correlation of reading with other subjects.

2. Spelling.

Selection of words for primary grades: division of words into syllables; the part pronunciation plays in spelling. Value of dictation lessons. Desirability of having children keep lists of their own misspelled words for frequent review. Spelling games and spelling matches.

Methods of teaching other subjects are discussed in the several departments in connection with the subject matter.

Penmanship

One period per week for two Semesters

There are two aims in this course. The first is to develop a legible, easy and rapid handwriting. This is accomplished by hygienic position of the body, correct penholding, movement drills and analysis of form. Uniform height, even spacing, neatness and arrangement of work receive special attention.

The second is to teach the method of presentation. Considerable blackboard practice is given with emphasis on position. The quality of paper, size and type of pen and holder, writing implements in the different grades, objects to be sought in the lower and upper grades, time devoted to penmanship and its relation to other studies are carefully considered.

The various systems are compared, showing their adequacy or inadequacy to meet the demands of the child's later life.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION

Thirty hours for one Semester

The first part of this course presents briefly the educational principles of Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, Herbart and Spencer. The remainder is devoted to a study of special types of present-day schools; i. e., Gary schools, the platoon system, the junior high school, schools for defective and backward children, vocational and other schools. Instruction is given by textbooks, lectures, and by visits to typical schools in the vicinity.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION

Four hours per week for one Semester

Part I. Grammar and Composition.

Grammar. The study of sentences and their structure, the study of phrases and clauses. Analysis of sentences. Words classified according to function. Fundamental principles of technical grammar. The work in English grammar largely inductive. Professional aspects of teaching the subject. Laboratory methods and their value.

Composition. Exercises in narration, exposition, description and argument. The study of the paragraph. The principles of unity, coherence and emphasis. Variety in sentence; exercises in changing the form of expressions. Oral composition. Versification.

Part II. Language in the Elementary Grades. Aim—to develop power of expression.

Language methods. Oral language; reproductive and imaginative composition. Conversation exercises, with special attention to correct forms of speech, enlargements of vocabulary and choice of words. Reports of experiences outside of school. Story-telling. Picture-study to stimulate expression. Written language; form lessons, thought lessons. Letter-writing, story-writing. Dictation lessons. Study and imitation of models. Dramatization; practical application. Action games. Criticism and correction of written work. Correlations of language with other subjects. Examination of available textbooks for the grades. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of language for the elementary grades.

LITERATURE

Four hours per week for one Semester

The aim of this course is to bring students to an appreciation of the nature of literature and its relation to life, in order that they may know what should be their aim in presenting literature, and what should control their choice of literature in the elementary grades.

The course is divided into Parts I and II.

Part I. The following types of literature are studied: (1) The epic, the Odyssey (Bryant's translation); the ballad epic, Arnold's Sohrab and Rustum; a brief study of the transition from the epic to the lyric and the dramatic, a study of the fundamental relation of form to the life it embodies and expresses. (2) The lyric, Seward's Narrative and Lyrical Poems for Students. (3) The dramatic, Shakespeare's Tempest. (4) The short story, appreciation of such masters as Irving, Poe, Hawthorne, Stevenson and Kipling.

Part II. The reading of literature suitable for use in elementary grades. Courses in literature for the elementary schools developed. The method of presentation of literature, illustrated by actual lesson-plans prepared for different grades as directed; class discussion of these lesson-plans. Pedagogical significance of myths, fables, fairy-tales, folk-tales, legends and hero-stories. The choice of stories, the essential qualities of a story for children; the art of story-telling; principles of method, manner and voice. The character of memory selections. Poetry presented primarily as a work of art, and not in the service of any other subject. Correlations of literature —"The natural correlations of literature are with the other arts; but, above all, with the spirit of childhood, and with the consciousness of children." Dramatization and the dramatic representation of literary selections. Literary programs for special days. The school library. The reading of professional and pedagogical works on the subject of literature for the elementary grades.

MATHEMATICS

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to equip teachers thoroughly for the work of the grades. Two semesters are spent upon the subject matter to be taught, presented from a more mature and theoretic point of view than that of the graded or high school; one semester upon the pedagogy of the subject. The work of all three semesters, however, deals very largely with the best methods of presenting the work to pupils in the grades.

(a) THE JUNIOR B COURSE.—This course seeks to develop quickness in oral work; accuracy, rapidity, and economy in computation; accuracy of statement in the written or oral analysis of a problem.

A careful study is made of the fundamental principles upon which computation with whole numbers, fractions and decimals depend; and as much drill work is given as time will permit. Considerable time is given to the analysis and solution of problems involving decimals.

A careful study also is made of the measurement of areas and volumes. The rules and principles are developed objectively and applied to practical problems.

The work is based upon the first six chapters of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(b) THE JUNIOR A COURSE.—This course is devoted entirely to a study of percentage and its applications.

The first half of the semester is devoted to a general use of per cent, as expressing relations; and the aim is to develop power to interpret relations expressed in terms of per cent, and to express relations as per cent.

The second half of the semester aims to give the pupil a social insight into business terms, processes, and problems. This includes a study of profit and loss; commercial discount; commission and brokerage; interest and bank discount; banking; stock investments; bond investments; taxes; and insurance.

The work of the semester is based upon Chapter VIII of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(c) THE SENIOR B COURSE.—This course is devoted to the pedagogy of the subject. It includes a study of the aim of a course in arithmetic; a study of the methods of motivating the work; the planning of the daily lesson; the purpose and nature of problems; the use of games in primary number work; a study of "standard tests"; and a careful study of methods of presenting the work of each of the eight grades.

Some time is spent in studying courses of study and recent textbooks.

The work of the semester is based upon Stone's Teaching of Arithmetic.

NATURE-STUDY—SCIENCE IN THE LOWER GRADES

Four periods per week for two Semesters

The subject matter of this course is found in the pupils' environment, both physical and biological. So far as possible, the sequence of topics follows that of the seasons. Living material is largely used. Definitely supervised field trips supplement the assigned individual work with outdoor material.

Some autumn topics are weeds and late-blooming flowers, seed dispersal, bulb planting, trees in their leafy and winter conditions, appropriate treatment of insects and related forms, preparation of plants and animals for winter.

During the winter months, attention is paid to some of the simpler physical phenomena found within the children's experience and suitable for presentation in the lower elementary grades, as, for example, sky studies, clouds and their formation, freezing point, and related weather work, including "sunshine" charts. Circulation of air outdoors and in leads to a careful study of the heating and ventilating system of the school plant.

Some spring topics are seed testing and germination; seedlings, gardening, soils as related to plants, spring flowers, plant functions not treated in the autumn; development of frog and toad, insects and their life histories appropriate to the season; birds, their habits and protection; economic importance of the various types of life studied.

Pupils make and care for school gardens on the campus and present plans for gardens under home conditions. The garden work serves also as a point of departure for a brief study of soils and soil-forming rocks, and capillarity as applied to soil water.

The handwork activities of the department outside the class-room take largely the form of "projects," chosen from a wide range of subjects. Projects, reports and other work are planned so as to bring the pupils into contact with a wide range of nature-study literature and references.

The department is provided with a good collection of birds, insects, plants, picture mounts, slides and apparatus for the projection of lantern and microscopic slides.

The course includes as great a variety of observation as possible of objects which the prospective teacher may be called upon to use in her work. The flowers, trees, birds, insects are studied in such a way as to give the student a ready recognition of them and an understanding of the principles upon which their life depends. Scientific relationships are subordinated to considerations of practical use in the elementary school.

Geography

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The course aims to give an understanding of the control which climate, surface and other geographic factors exert over the life of man and animals upon the globe; a knowledge of and ability to use the authoritative source material available; the ability to read maps, and some of the best ways of presenting the subject to children.

The first half-year's work is devoted to a study of mathematical geography, the atmosphere, the lands, the work of running water and the oceans. As much field work as possible is done in this connection, as the school is particularly well situated for it. Books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Geography and Salisbury's Physiography.

The first half of the second semester is devoted to the study of the continent of North America and countries of Europe most closely connected with us through trade. Through this study the pupils are expected to gain an insight into the method of continent study for the grammar grades. Particular emphasis is laid upon the influence of geographic environment in determining routes of trade, location of industrial centers, and the distribution of commodities. The books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Advanced Geography, Mill's International Geography, Robinson's and Brigham's Commercial Geographies, Miss Semple's The Influence of Geographic Environment, and various government publications.

The work in methods of teaching geography is left until the last quarter in order to take advantage of the instruction in the art of questioning and in making lesson plans given in the course in pedagogy. The chief divisions of the work are a study of the content of geography; determining factors in arranging subject matter for different grades; methods of teaching as applied to subject matter determined for each grade. Each student prepares lesson plans for different grades and teaches the class.

American History

Three periods per week for two Semesters

This course presents a general survey of the rise and development of the American nation and includes a discussion of methods of teaching history and civics in the primary and grammar grades, the study of curricula, the use of sources and illustrative material, and a knowledge of historical bibliography. The chief topics studied are the teaching of European history in the elementary grades, European influences on American colonization, the struggle for supremacy between England and France, growth of colonial institutions, the contest with England, formation and interpretation of the Constitutions of the United States and New Jersey, the development of the new nation, western expansion, conditions, parties and issues that led to the Civil War, the war and its results, national development since 1877, social and economic problems, labor and capital, immigration, the tariff, the United States as a world power, territorial and political expansion, the causes of the Great War, and community civics for the grades.

The course consists of lectures, recitations, special topics, assigned readings, written reviews, story-telling and class exercises in the conduct of history recitations, projects, illustrative manual work, and discussions of current history with the aid of newspapers and magazines.

THE MANUAL ARTS

Freehand Drawing—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course giving the fundamentals of simple representation and perspective. Problems will involve the foreshortened circle and circular surfaces in all positions, convergence and questions of distance, position and level. Memory drawing to cultivate a graphic vocabulary. Students will be required to prepare notebooks covering the work of the term.

Design—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course presenting the essentials of design as applied to school exercises. Applications are made to (a) borders, (b) rectangular or circular patterns, (c) landscape and still-life composition, and (d) lettering. The work is done with reference to a stated material and purpose, as rectangular pattern (clay), border (stenciling or basketry), lettering (poster).

The course includes a definite, usable discussion and demonstrations of color and tones.

Manual Training—

Two periods per week for two Semesters

Tested forms of handwork and construction for the first five or six elementary years will be used as the basis for work, as follows:

(a) Paper construction, folding and pasting.
(b) Cardboard construction, simple bookmaking, boxes, etc.
(c) Sand-table representation.
(d) Basketry—Elementary reed and raphia basketwork.
(e) Sewing for intermediate grades.

Blackboard Drawing—

One period per week for one Semester

A course planned to give students facility and confidence in the use of the blackboard before pupils. Exercises include simple methods of expressing rapidly and effectively a wide range of subjects.

Physical Education and Hygiene

Physical Education:

Three periods per week for two Semesters

Two periods per week for one Semester

Hygiene: Two periods per week for one Semester

The purpose of the course in physical training is threefold:

1. To keep each student in good physical condition and to inspire in her a thorough appreciation of the importance of health. For this purpose two weekly lectures are given throughout the first semester in principles of physiology and hygiene correlated with three hours of practical gymnastic training.

2. To teach the student to plan and to conduct gymnastic lessons suitable to the schoolroom, and to be able to recognize and to correct physical defects and faulty postures among children. Throughout the second year two hours a week of theory and practice are devoted to this end.

3. To give a knowledge of scientific schoolroom lighting, heating, ventilation and seating, and to train the student to recognize good or bad conditions of the same.

Music

One period per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to enable the student to meet the requirements for teaching music in the public schools in the State from the primary to the highest grades.

Some of the salient features of this course are: Rote songs, Treatment of Monotones, Ear training and Interval work. Diatonic and chromatic scales—Minor scales—Class and individual sight reading—Dictation work for all grades—Time and Rhythm emphasized—Simple song forms and cadences—Elementary harmony—History of Music—Lives of famous composers—Stories of the operas—Program making and practice teaching—Chorus work—Appreciation of music taught by lectures and victrola.

II. The Kindergarten Primary Course

This course requires two years for its completion and qualifies a graduate to teach in a kindergarten or in one of the first four primary grades. Students are received in September or in February.

They must have the same qualifications as candidates for the General Course and must also be able to sing and to play the piano. All applicants for this course are examined in both vocal and instrumental music, and must satisfy the kindergarten director that they are qualified to conduct the music of a kindergarten.

DETAILS OF THE KINDERGARTEN PRIMARY COURSE

THEORY:

Introductory—The purpose of this course is to give the student the historical background for the study of the kindergarten of to-day, and also to prepare her for intelligent observation of modern kindergartens.

Child Training—This course embraces a sympathetic study of universal activities of children and is based upon Froebel's Die Mutter und Kose Lieder.

PEDAGOGY OF THE KINDERGARTEN:

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM:

This course includes a study of the fundamental principles underlying elementary education and a practical demonstration of these as related to the kindergarten. It is given in four parts.

1—Educational Principles.
2—Development of a Kindergarten Program.
3—Study and practical demonstration of the Project Method as related to the Kindergarten.
4—Study of the Methods of Conducting Mothers' Meetings.

THE STUDY OF PLAY MATERIALS:

The aim of this course is to familiarize the student with the modern use of the Froebelian gifts; to develop the educational value of toys and their place in the kindergarten; to experiment with modern materials, such as the Hill blocks, and estimate their value in relation to elementary education.

HANDWORK:

A study of various forms of handwork, adapted to the ability of little children, including a few of the Froebelian occupations in a modified form. Practical work in the same for the kindergarten and primary grades.

STORIES:

A study of the principles of selection and of presentation of stories, with classification of stories, writing of original stories and practice in telling stories.

SONGS AND DRAMATIZATION:

A study in selection and presentation of songs suitable for kindergarten and primary grades and the dramatization of songs and rhymes.

GAMES AND RHYTHMIC EXERCISES:

A study of children's games and practice in playing kindergarten games. A study of interpretative rhythms and dances. Original work in the same.

SUBJECTS IN THE GENERAL COURSE:

Elementary and Genetic Psychology, History of Education, English, Nature Study, Music, Drawing, Manual Training, Pedagogy and Methods, Gymnastics, Penmanship, Physiology and Hygiene, and Primary Methods in Arithmetic, Geography and History.

THE KINDERGARTEN:

A kindergarten demonstrating the application of modern educational principles in the training of little children has been opened the past year, and offers the student an opportunity to observe the practical working of the theories and methods which she has been studying in her course.

GIFTS

A generous gift of money from the late Edward Russ, Esq., for the decoration of the building has enabled the school to place on its walls many photographs of men eminent in science, psychology, education, and in public affairs, as well as several reproductions of the masterpieces of great artists. At his death, Mr. Russ bequeathed to this school a collection of curios and of photographs and the substantial sum of money which has taken permanent form in Edward Russ Hall.

Many other gifts now adorn the building, having been presented to the school by the different classes upon their graduation and at various times after graduation. These gifts are as follows:

Class of 1910—Statue of Athene.
Books for the library.
Class of 1911—Cast of the Winged Victory of Samothrace.
Pictures for the Kindergarten.
Class of 1912—Statue of Diana.
Sun dial, the work of Messrs. Danufsky and Halsey, of the class of 1912.
Class of 1913—Photographs of three Millet paintings. In 1915 this class also furnished the hospital room at Edward Russ Hall.
Class of 1914—Photographs of Ruysdael's Windmill and The Hour of the Angelus by Perret.
Classes of January and June, 1915—An oil portrait of the present principal.
Class of June, 1916—Bronze shield with educational motto.
Class of January, 1917—Photograph of James Whitcomb Riley and a set of his works for the library.
Class of June, 1917—Silk United States presentation flag.
Class of January, 1918—Two bas-reliefs—"Singing Boys" of Luca della Robbia.
Class of June, 1918—Two bas-reliefs.
Class of January, 1919—Three photographs, one of the cathedral of Amiens, and two of the modern Dutch school.
Class of June, 1919—Two busts, one of Theodore Roosevelt and one of Woodrow Wilson.
Class of January, 1920—Two busts, one of George Washington and one of Abraham Lincoln.

Alumni Reunion

On May 10, 1919, the ninth annual reunion of the alumni was held at the Hotel McAlpin in New York City. The following officers were elected for the year 1919-1920:

President, ...H. Louise Cottrell, 1914
Vice-President, ...Edna Benson, 1910
Secretary, ...Ruth Hance Condit, 1911
Treasurer, ...C. Elisabeth Doig, 1916

Executive Committee

Leila Clark, 1914
Leonie Dieffenbach Franzin, 1912
Eleanor Johnson, 1917

EMPLOYMENT OF GRADUATES

School superintendents and members of boards of education are invited to visit the school and to consult with the principal when they need teachers. Full records of scholarship and confidential estimates of a student's personality will always be given to school officials. Under the system of practice teaching connected with this school, one-half of each senior class may be seen at work at any time.

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE

The Legislature of 1902 directed the State Board of Education to investigate the need of additional facilities for training teachers for the public schools of New Jersey. In its annual report of 1903, the Board reported that, although the New Jersey State Normal School at Trenton was filled with students, the supply of trained teachers was quite inadequate to the increasing demand and recommended that a normal school be established in the northern part of the State. In 1904 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a site. After inspecting many locations, the Board finally purchased a plot of twenty-five acres in the northern part of Montclair, Essex County. A more beautiful or healthful site could not have been chosen. The grounds have an elevation of four hundred feet above sea level and command an uninterrupted view of a landscape of remarkable beauty. The Orange range stretches away to the right, while at the front and left the Passaic valley, the Hudson, and the taller buildings of New York are plainly visible.

An appropriation of $275,000 was made by the Legislature of 1906 for the erection and equipment of a building. The mission style was adopted and a normal school building, 334 feet long and 133 feet deep, of brick covered with white stucco, was erected on the highest part of the grounds, fronting the New York landscape. The equipment is of the latest and best. The ample grounds afford opportunities for school gardens, tennis courts, and all the outdoor activities of a large normal school.

The building was dedicated September 28, 1908, by Governor John Franklin Fort and the State Board of Education. The school had been previously organized on September 15, with 187 students. Another class was received in February, 1909, to the number of 31, making the total registration in the first year 218. No advanced classes were opened the first year and no students received from any other normal school.

The New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair may be reached in the following ways:

1. By Erie Railroad—Greenwood Lake Division. The Montclair Heights station adjoins the grounds of the normal school.

2. By D., L. and W. Railroad to Montclair station, thence by Valley Road trolley to the grounds.

3. By Bloomfield Avenue trolley with transfer at Valley Road to Valley Road trolley.

4. By Autobus from Paterson and Montclair, also by autobus from Newark.

Passengers by the Pennsylvania Railroad to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

Passengers by the Central Railroad of New Jersey to Newark can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley at Terminal station, Newark.

The General Aim of the School

The Montclair State Normal School is a professional school, whose single aim at present is the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools and kindergartens of the State.

The qualifications of a good teacher are both natural and acquired. The former include all that we mean by personality. In detail, these are:

1. Adaptability and tact, i. e., the ability to adjust one's self in thought, language and method to the immaturity of children.
2. A strong attraction for teaching, based on genuine love of children.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Executive ability.
5. Common sense.
6. Good health and a cheerful disposition.

One who lacks any of these natural qualifications will not teach well. Since the Normal School cannot create personality, it cannot make teachers. Its most important function is to discover, to inspire and to train the born teacher, and to fit her into her appropriate place in the schools.

There can be no academic tests of personality. The candidate for the teaching profession is admitted to the Normal School chiefly upon evidence of her intellectual ability. The condition is always implied that she may be dismissed whenever it becomes clear that she lacks conspicuously the natural qualifications of the good teacher.

To the natural teacher, however, the Montclair State Normal School offers unexcelled opportunities of acquiring that professional knowledge and technical skill which are indispensable to the best teaching.

The course of study includes the necessary elements in the training of teachers.

(1) Educational theory. The history of education, psychology, pedagogy, organization and management of schools, the principles and art of teaching, and methods.

(2) A thorough study of the subject matter of the elementary school curriculum.

(3) Observation of model teaching.

(4) Practice in teaching under expert supervision.

Requirements for Admission

Both sexes are admitted.

1. Residence. All candidates must be residents of New Jersey.

Rule for non-resident students in New Jersey State Normal Schools, passed October 2, 1920.

Students not resident within the State who desire to take a course of instruction in any of the New Jersey State Normal Schools may be admitted upon the same terms as resident students, provided there is room for them and they do not keep out or displace resident students, to whom preference shall be given, and provided, further, that this rule shall be enforced only during periods of teacher shortage in the State.

2. Age. All candidates must be at least sixteen years old.

3. Scholarship. The State Board of Education, on February 1st, 1919, passed the following resolution concerning the entrance requirements to the State Normal Schools:

Resolved, That candidates may satisfy the scholarship requirements for admission to these schools by graduation from a four-year course of a high school or private school approved by the State Board of Education; or by holding a first grade county teacher's certificate, a permanent elementary, or secondary teacher's certificate.

4. Health. All candidates must present certificates from physicians stating that they are in good health and free from all physical defects that unfit them for teaching.

The Committee on Normal Schools has voted that all candidates for admission shall be examined by a woman physician selected by the school to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for teaching; and that any student may be examined by this physician at any time in her course to determine whether her physical condition warrants her continuance in the school.

In conformity with the statute of the State requiring physical training in the public schools, the State Board of Education, on October 6, 1917, voted as follows: "That the Normal Schools Committee be instructed to inform the principals of the Normal Schools that in the opinion of this Board all students in the Normal Schools are required to take physical instruction, and that therefore none can be admitted under the law except such as are physically qualified to take such instruction as is being given."

5. Character. All candidates must present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Intention to teach. At registration all students must sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of New Jersey for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that if they do not so teach they will refund to the State the cost of their education.

7. All students are admitted on probation. The principals of the State Normal Schools have been instructed by the State Board of Education to exclude from these schools at the close of the first half year such students as are unable to pass the prescribed examinations in the work of that half year, including English composition, spelling and arithmetic.

N. B.—Application blanks containing all data necessary for admission may be obtained of the principal.

High School Preparation for the Normal School

While all graduates of approved high schools and approved private secondary schools are admitted without examination, all are advised to study the following subjects in their high school courses: plane geometry, botany, physics, one foreign language, at least three years of English, United States history and civics, English history, modern European history, music, drawing, arithmetic, geography and English grammar.

High school preparation in music should consist of (a) sight reading: the ability to read at sight, true to pitch, with Latin syllables, melodies containing simple skips based on the tonic chord, in any major key, and in simple two and three-part measures; (b) ear training, the ability to recognize and match tones sung to neutral syllables, as "loo."

No student will be graduated until she reaches a high degree of proficiency in spelling. Students who are very deficient in spelling or in the mechanics of written English will fail in the work of this school.

Expenses

No charge is made for tuition or for the use of textbooks and apparatus.

Each student must provide herself with a gymnasium outfit. This consists of a pair of high white sneakers, black ballet slippers, two middy blouses, and a pair of black bloomers. The entire outfit may be purchased through the school for $8.

It is most important that no part of the outfit should be purchased without the approval of the physical director. Students with apparel already in their possession should bring it for approval on Registration Day.

Luncheon will be served at the school daily at the noon intermission at moderate prices.

THE EDWARD RUSS HALL

The late Edward Russ bequeathed a substantial sum of money to the State Board of Education for the use of the New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair. This bequest has been used in the erection of a dormitory known as the Edward Russ Hall, which was opened for boarding pupils September 16, 1915.

The building is fireproof throughout and is designed in the Spanish Mission style, with white stucco exterior walls and red Spanish tile roof, to conform in character to the present Normal School building.

The dormitory accommodates 96 students, there being 52 single rooms and 22 double rooms. Each floor is provided with ample bath and toilet-room facilities, and at each end of the hall, conveniently located, are two enclosed fireproof stairs extending from the top floor to the ground and giving ample exits.

The main floor is particularly well planned for the social requirements of a school. The living-room is thirty-three feet wide and forty feet long, having at one end a reading-room, thirteen feet by thirty-two feet. This is elevated a few steps above the general level of the living-room and can be used as a stage for giving amateur plays. On one side of the living-room is a large open fireplace, which adds much to the attractiveness of the room.

At the other end of the building is the dining-room, accommodating 110 persons. This is finished in old ivory tints and has an attractive fireplace at one side of the room.

The kitchen and serving-rooms are up-to-date in every respect. They are arranged with a view to the best sanitary requirements, and every convenience of a large kitchen has been installed.

On the first floor is located the matron's suite, which contains a living-room and bedroom. There is also a reception-room for visitors, and a hospital room.

The basement contains storerooms, trunk rooms and a large and well equipped laundry.

EDWARD RUSS HALL.

The sleeping-rooms, both single and double, are equipped with comfortable and attractive furniture. Each student has a single iron bedstead and excellent mattress, a chiffonier, a desk, a commode, an easy chair and a straight chair. Each student has a separate closet for clothing.

Dormitory Regulations

Students are not permitted to board elsewhere than at the Edward Russ Hall except by permission of the principal. This permission is limited strictly to boarding with relatives or friends in very exceptional circumstances.

Beginning February 1, 1920, the uniform rate for each boarder is $275 per annum, payable as follows: $5.00 when application is made; the balance in quarterly installments at the beginning of each quarter; that is, $63.75 at registration, and $68.75 at the beginning of each quarter thereafter. The dates of these quarters are given on page 9.

No application for a room will be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of five dollars; if the application is rejected, this will be refunded. If the applicant withdraws more than thirty days before the opening of school, the deposit will be refunded, but otherwise it will be forfeited. Checks should be made payable to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

This charge includes board, laundry, heat, lights, and either a single or half a double room, according to the date of application.

No rebate is made for absence on Saturdays and Sundays, for illness for less than three weeks, or for expulsion or voluntary withdrawal from school during a quarter. Pupils who are ill for three weeks or more at one time will receive a drawback of $2.50 per week during such illness.

A student who withdraws from the dormitory voluntarily during a semester is responsible for the above payments for the full semester.

Students who have engaged accommodation at the dormitory should arrive on the day preceding the opening of the term.

Trunks should be marked, "Edward Russ Hall, Montclair Heights, N. J." If expressed prepaid to Montclair Heights by Wells Fargo Express Company or to Montclair by Adams Express Company, they will be delivered at the dormitory. If a student checks her trunk on her railroad ticket, it will be delivered at the dormitory by the Shepard Transfer Company of Montclair or by John Hart of Montclair Heights.

Each student should bring overshoes, an umbrella, a raincoat, bath towels, and two clothes bags marked distinctly with her name.

Each student is required to take care of her own room. Laundry is limited to twelve pieces per week of personal clothing, but no starched pieces are ironed. All clothing should be marked with the owner's name in indelible ink.

Except by permission of the matron, students are not permitted to go home or to leave town during term time. Permission to go home at week-ends will usually be granted on written request of parents.

Students must attend service at such church in Upper Montclair or Montclair as shall be designated by their parents.

Visitors, other than parents and fellow students, will be received at the dormitory only by permission of the matron.

Guests of students will be entertained at the dormitory at one dollar per day, if arrangements are made previously with the matron.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

No special students are admitted.

The aim of the school is distinctly professional.

Students are prepared to teach in the elementary schools or kindergartens of the State. There are two courses of study—the General Course and the Kindergarten-Primary Course.

Graduates in the General course receive permanent Normal School certificates, to teach and to supervise teaching in any branch or department of at least the first eight years of work exclusive of the kindergarten; to be the Principal of any school of the first eight years that is under a City Superintendent; to be the Principal of a school or the schools of the first eight years in a district employing not more than nine assistant teachers and not under a local Superintendent or Supervising Principal.

Graduates in the Kindergarten-Primary course receive permanent Normal School certificates to teach and to supervise teaching in the kindergarten and in any branch or department of the first four years of school work exclusive of the kindergarten.

These certificates are endorsable without examination in most States.

I. THE GENERAL COURSE

The General course requires two years or two and one-half years for its completion, according to the qualification and circumstances of the individual student.

A student of ability, in good health, boarding in Montclair or commuting daily for a short distance, may complete this course in two years, provided she has had in the high school the subjects recommended on page 15.

Students who lack these qualifications, or who commute daily for a considerable distance, or who have not taken in the high school all the subjects recommended on page 15, will find it impossible to complete the General course in less than two and one-half years.

All students who can do so are advised to take the longer time.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

At registration, each student may elect to take the General course in two years or in two and one-half years, according to the following programs:

DETAIL OF THE GENERAL COURSE OF STUDY

PSYCHOLOGY

(a) ELEMENTARY PSYCHOLOGY

Three periods per week in the Junior B Semester

The course in Elementary Psychology is designed to give the student a fundamental understanding of the normal conscious experience, scientifically considered; (a) as a basis for the course in Genetic Psychology; (b) as a directly practical explanation of some educational principles and practices.

Topics included are:

I. Nature and Functioning of the Nervous System and of the Specific Sensory End-organs

II. Contents of Consciousness
Sensations and Emotions

III. Laws of Mental Behavior
Attention and Association

IV. Complex Mental Processes
Imagining, Perceiving, Remembering, Reasoning, Willing

V. Related Activities
Instincts and Habits

The work is conducted by means of class discussions, based on Calkins's "A First Book in Psychology" and Pillsbury's "Essentials of Psychology," and upon reference work in the standard texts of Angell, James, Judd, Titchener, Thorndike and others. The student's introspective study of his own experiences is supplemented by reading and reviews of reminiscent studies of childhood, such as Helen Keller's "The Story of My Life," Pierre Loti's "The Study of a Child," John Stuart Mill's Autobiography.

(b) GENETIC PSYCHOLOGY

Two periods a week in Junior A and Senior B Semesters

This is an advanced course, as an outgrowth of the course in Elementary Psychology, and covers one year of two periods a week. The purpose of the course is (1) to apply the facts learned in Elementary Psychology to the training of children; (2) to present, so far as they have been scientifically determined, facts concerning the nature and development of the mind during childhood and adolescence; and (3) to provide the prospective teacher with sound criteria for estimating theories about the child's mind, as well as to give training in the concrete study of child life. The course includes studies in the physical, intellectual and moral development of children; factors conditioning mental development, as heredity and environment; mental fatigue and its relation to mental work; comparative studies of the minds of lower animals and savages with those of normal and defective children; the special senses, perception, memory, imagination, thought powers, emotions and motor ability. Attention is also given to the causes and extent of defective vision and hearing and methods of testing the same, together with other minor psychical abnormalities more or less common among school children, with special reference to the Binet scale for measuring intelligence and its adaptation to American needs and conditions. An important feature of the course is the use of standardized educational measurements and a study of scales and tests that have been found useful in determining more scientifically the abilities and accomplishments of children. The students are familiarized with objective units of measurements, methods of determining central tendency, variability, and correlation, with special application of the same to the learning process during the elementary school period.

INTRODUCTION TO EDUCATION

Three periods per week in the first Semester

The aim of this course is to familiarize students at the beginning with the large principles of education, to train them to observe the procedure in their various classes, and to translate their experiences in terms of the principles studied, thus motivating their work throughout their Normal School course.

The course includes:

(1) A discussion of the various aims of education with special emphasis upon the social efficiency aim—what it includes, its effect upon choice of subject matter, upon methods, habits, discipline.

(2) A consideration of the factors which influence the teaching process—the home, the community, the school—and a discussion at length as to the place of the school with reference to the aim of education, and the right of the State to tax the individual for the schools' support, and to enforce compulsory education.

(3) A study of the origin of subject matter, of the factors which form the basis of education, of the place and function of these factors—viz., ideas, attitudes and feelings, instincts and capacities, habits—and the purposes of education with reference to these factors.

(4) A general discussion of the various forms of teaching procedure best adapted to securing the different purposes of education, viz., lecture or reading lesson, inductive, deductive, object, experiment, appreciation, assignment, recitation, study, review, drill, and examination lessons with especial emphasis upon the discussion of each as to purposes, procedure, advantages, limitations, etc.

(5) A consideration of the study lesson in detail from the standpoint of its use (1) to the student, (2) by the teacher. (An effort will be made to improve individual methods of study.)

(6) An appreciation of the content of the various courses provided in the Normal School curriculum with reference to the student's preparation for teaching, and training in the recognition of the various forms of procedure used in these classes and their value.

PEDAGOGY OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Four periods per week in Senior B Semester

Purposes of the Course in Pedagogy

1. To acquaint students with the modern conception of the aim of education and the educational principles underlying the teaching process.
2. To give students practice in applying these principles to the selection, organization and presentation of subject matter.
3. To develop a professional spirit by putting students in touch with modern educational movements and current educational literature.

Topics Taken Up in Pedagogy

1. Methods of study. These methods are applied in the study of pedagogy.
2. The aim of education—the producing of socially efficient people.
3. The place of the school in the educative process and its relationship to other institutions, such as the home, library, amusements.
4. The essentials of an efficient school.
   - a. The physical conditions.
   - b. The child as the most important factor.
   - c. The teacher—her characteristics and an attempt to develop them.
   - d. The course of study or curriculum. Courses of study used in New Jersey are examined. Students are made familiar with good courses of study.
   - e. The daily program.
   - f. Methods of teaching, with especial emphasis on securing interest.
     1. Project method—discussed and applied.
     2. Motives in school work.

3. Types of lessons.
   Inductive.
   Deductive.
   Drill.
   Review.
   Study.
4. Art of questioning, including the topical method and the socialized recitation.
5. Text books.
6. Assignment of lessons.

g. Class Management.
School Spirit.
Place of routine.
Methods of securing self-direction.

The course includes assigned readings, reports, observations of teaching, discussion, plans and the working out of individual and group projects.

READING AND SPELLING

Three periods a week in Senior B Semester

This course aims to teach students to apply the principles of education as considered in the more general course to methods in reading and spelling.

1. Reading (a) Something of the history of reading as to selection of material and methods used. (b) Present-day standards for choice of subject matter. (c) Methods: A discussion of the word, sentence and phonic methods. Discussions of other more recent methods which are combinations of the above, as Rational, New Education, Natural, Nursery and Aldine; correlation of drawing, story, dramatization with reading in the primary grades; a study of phonetics. Lesson plans and the presentation of an ideal method by each student. Methods for intermediate grades will be considered. (a) The preparation: the word-drill. Word-study as compared with silent reading; the use of the dictionary. (b) Vocal expression: Faults of expression: Causes; How corrected? Correlation of reading with other subjects.

2. Spelling.

Selection of words for primary grades: division of words into syllables; the part pronunciation plays in spelling. Value of dictation lessons. Desirability of having children keep lists of their own misspelled words for frequent review. Spelling games and spelling matches.

Methods of teaching other subjects are discussed in the several departments in connection with the subject matter.

PENMANSHIP

One period per week for two Semesters

There are two aims in this course. The first is to develop a legible, easy and rapid handwriting. This is accomplished by hygienic position of the body, correct penholding, movement drills and analysis of form. Uniform height, even spacing, neatness and arrangement of work receive special attention.

The second is to teach the method of presentation. Considerable blackboard practice is given with emphasis on position. The quality of paper, size and type of pen and holder, writing implements in the different grades, objects to be sought in the lower and upper grades, time devoted to penmanship and its relation to other studies are carefully considered.

The various systems are compared, showing their adequacy or inadequacy to meet the demands of the child's later life.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION

Thirty hours for one Semester

The first part of this course presents briefly the educational principles of Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, Herbart and Spencer. The remainder is devoted to a study of special types of present-day schools; i. e., Gary schools, the platoon system, the junior high school, schools for defective and backward children, vocational and other schools. Instruction is given by textbooks, lectures, and by visits to typical schools in the vicinity.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION

Four hours per week for one Semester

Part I. Grammar.

1. Review of the fundamental principles of technical grammar usually taught in elementary schools.

Sentences and their structure, clauses and phrases. Words classified according to their uses.

2. Methods of developing grammatical principles inductively in the grades.

Part II. Composition.

1. Oral composition stressed as basis for written composition.

Subjects taken from current events, reviews of books, personal experiences, and the daily work of other departments of the Normal School or other material selected by the students, the aim being to develop facility, accuracy, and clearness of expression.

Descriptions, narrations, expositions, with some practice in oral debating. Criticisms of oral work to be made by class.

2. Written Composition.

Letter-writing, telegrams, editorials, reports, advertisements.

Descriptions, narrations, expositions.

Study of the paragraph and the principles of unity, coherence, emphasis and proportion, illustrated from students' themes. Correction by students of their own themes followed by class criticisms.

Part III.

Methods of teaching composition in elementary schools.

Some practice in telling of children's stories, picture study, dictation exercises, projects.

Preparation and discussion of a few brief and simple lesson-plans.

Part IV.

Discussion of State Manual on teaching of English and of text-books to discover proper distribution of work in grammar and composition according to grades.

English Literature

Four periods per week for one Semester

Literature studied: Stories from the national epics, ballads, lyric and dramatic poems, stories, myths, fables, fairy tales, folk tales, legends, and hero stories suitable for use in the elementary grades.

Lesson plans prepared for different grades. Discussion of courses in literature for elementary grades. Principles of method of presentation: the choice of stories, the essential qualities of stories for children, the art of story-telling, manner and voice. Dramatization. School programs for anniversaries.

Mathematics

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to equip teachers thoroughly for the work of the grades. Two semesters are spent upon the subject matter to be taught, presented from a more mature and theoretic point of view than that of the graded or high school; one semester upon the pedagogy of the subject. The work of all three semesters, however, deals very largely with the best methods of presenting the work to pupils in the grades.

(a) The Junior B Course.—This course seeks to develop quickness in oral work; accuracy, rapidity, and economy in computation; accuracy of statement in the written or oral analysis of a problem.

A careful study is made of the fundamental principles upon which computation with whole numbers, fractions and decimals depend; and as much drill work is given as time will permit. Considerable time is given to the analysis and solution of problems involving decimals.

A careful study also is made of the measurement of areas and volumes. The rules and principles are developed objectively and applied to practical problems.

The work is based upon the first six chapters of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(b) The Junior A Course.—This course is devoted entirely to a study of percentage and its applications.

The first half of the semester is devoted to a general use of per cent, as expressing relations; and the aim is to develop power to interpret relations expressed in terms of per cent, and to express relations as per cent.

The second half of the semester aims to give the pupil a social insight into business terms, processes, and problems. This includes a study of profit and loss; commercial discount; commission and brokerage; interest and bank discount; banking; stock investments; bond investments; taxes; and insurance.

The work of the semester is based upon Chapter VIII of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(c) THE SENIOR B COURSE.—This course is devoted to the pedagogy of the subject. It includes a study of the aim of a course in arithmetic; a study of the methods of motivating the work; the planning of the daily lesson; the purpose and nature of problems; the use of games in primary number work; a study of "standard tests"; and a careful study of methods of presenting the work of each of the eight grades.

Some time is spent in studying courses of study and recent textbooks.

The work of the semester is based upon Stone's Teaching of Arithmetic.

NATURE-STUDY—ELEMENTARY SCIENCE

Four periods per week for two Semesters

This department, in its presentation of subject matter and methods, aims to develop the student's intelligent interest in the common natural objects and processes which are a part of the life of the average individual.

Because of the unusual facilities which the location of the school offers, special emphasis is laid upon living things. These are studied in such a way as to enable the student to recognize them readily and understand the principles upon which their life depends.

The main subjects considered are: spring and autumn flowers, with special emphasis on weeds; seed dispersal; trees in summer and winter conditions; preparation of plants and animals for winter; winter birds and how to attract them; migratory birds in the order of their appearance; mammals, especially pets; various small animals, as frogs, toads, etc.; the common constellations, the planets, etc.; seeds and their germination; soil physics as a preparation for the students' own school gardens; the planning of a large home garden; common insects.

The methods of presentation include: actual field work on the average of once a week during the first and the last ten weeks of the course; laboratory practice; recitations; reference work and individual reports involving personal observations and the use of a variety of literature; the study of living and prepared material in preparation for recognition tests involving thirty-five tree leaves, twenty-five twigs, seventy birds, fifty insects and about sixty flowers; lectures illustrated with experiments, charts, models, mounted pictures, stereopticon slides and pictures, mounted specimens and Victrola bird records; lesson plans and papers on the pedagogy of the subject.

Each student makes from four to six collections which are intended for after-use in teaching.

GEOGRAPHY

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The course aims to give an understanding of the control which climate, surface and other geographic factors exert over the life of man and animals upon the globe; a knowledge of and ability to use the authoritative source material available; the ability to read maps, and some of the best ways of presenting the subject to children.

The first half-year's work is devoted to a study of mathematical geography, the atmosphere, the lands, the work of running water and the oceans. As much field work as possible is done in this connection, as the school is particularly well situated for it. Books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Geography and Salisbury's Physiography.

The first half of the second semester is devoted to the study of the continent of North America and countries of Europe most closely connected with us through trade. Through this study the pupils are expected to gain an insight into the method of continent study for the grammar grades. Particular emphasis is laid upon the influence of geographic environment in determining routes of trade, location of industrial centers, and the distribution of commodities. The books most used in this part of the course are Dodge's Advanced Geography, Mill's International Geography, Robinson's and Brigham's Commercial Geographies, Miss Semple's The Influence of Geographic Environment, and various government publications.

The work in methods of teaching geography is left until the last quarter in order to take advantage of the instruction in the art of questioning and in making lesson plans given in the course in pedagogy. The chief divisions of the work are a study of the content of geography; determining factors in arranging subject matter for different grades; methods of teaching as applied to subject matter determined for each grade. Each student prepares lesson plans for different grades and teaches the class.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Three periods per week for two Semesters

This course presents a general survey of the rise and development of the American nation and includes a discussion of methods of teaching history and civics in the primary and grammar grades, the study of curricula, the use of sources and illustrative material, and a knowledge of historical bibliography. The chief topics studied are the teaching of European history in the elementary grades, European influences on American colonization, the struggle for supremacy between England and France, growth of colonial institutions, the contest with England, formation and interpretation of the Constitutions of the United States and New Jersey, the development of the new nation, western expansion, conditions, parties and issues that led to the Civil War, the war and its results, national development since 1877, social and economic problems, labor and capital, immigration, the tariff, the United States as a world power, territorial and political expansion, the causes of the Great War, and community civics for the grades.

The course consists of lectures, recitations, special topics, assigned readings, written reviews, story-telling and class exercises in the conduct of history recitations, projects, illustrative manual work, and discussions of current history with the aid of newspapers and magazines.

THE MANUAL ARTS

Freehand Drawing—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course giving the fundamentals of simple representation and perspective. Problems will involve the foreshortened circle and circular surfaces in all positions, convergence and questions of distance, position and level. Memory drawing to cultivate a graphic vocabulary. Students will be required to prepare notebooks covering the work of the term.

Design—

Two periods per week for one Semester

A course presenting the essentials of design as applied to school exercises. Applications are made to (a) borders, (b) rectangular or circular patterns, (c) landscape and still-life composition, and (d) lettering. The work is done with reference to a stated material and purpose, as rectangular pattern (clay), border (stenciling or basketry), lettering (poster).

The course includes a definite, usable discussion and demonstrations of color and tones.

Manual Training—

Two periods per week for two Semesters

Tested forms of handwork and construction for the first five or six elementary years will be used as the basis for work, as follows:

(a) Paper construction, folding and pasting.
(b) Cardboard construction, simple bookmaking, boxes, etc.
(c) Sand-table representation.
(d) Basketry—Elementary reed and raphia basketwork.
(e) Sewing for intermediate grades.

Blackboard Drawing—

One period per week for one Semester

A course planned to give students facility and confidence in the use of the blackboard before pupils. Exercises include simple methods of expressing rapidly and effectively a wide range of subjects.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HYGIENE

Physical Education:

Three periods per week for two Semesters

Two periods per week for one Semester

Hygiene: Two periods per week for one Semester

PHYSICAL EDUCATION:

First and second semesters—This course is given to keep the student in good physical condition, and includes marching tactics, free work, hand and heavy apparatus, games, folk dances, and track athletics.

Third semester—The theory of gymnastics is taught, including lesson plans and nomenclature, with practice teaching of games, dances, and original gymnastic lessons suitable to the school room.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE:

These lectures are given to teach students the importance of hygienic living and to familiarize them with the subject matter to be presented by them in the public schools.

MUSIC

One period per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to enable the student to meet the requirements for teaching music in the public schools in the State from the primary to the highest grades.

Some of the salient features of this course are: Rote songs, Treatment of Monotones, Ear training and Interval work. Diatonic and chromatic scales—Minor scales—Class and individual sight reading—Dictation work for all grades—Time and Rhythm emphasized—Simple song forms and cadences—Elementary harmony—History of Music—Lives of famous composers—Stories of the operas—Program making and practice teaching—Chorus work—Appreciation of music taught by lectures and victrola.

II. THE KINDERGARTEN PRIMARY COURSE

This course requires two years for its completion and qualifies a graduate to teach in a kindergarten or in one of the first four primary grades. Students are received in September or in February. They must have the same qualifications as candidates for the General Course and must also be able to sing and to play the piano. All applicants for this course are examined in both vocal and instrumental music, and must satisfy the kindergarten director that they are qualified to conduct the music of a kindergarten.

Applicants are requested to bring with them at the time of registration music which they can play for the director of the Kindergarten Department.

FIRST GRADE ACTIVITIES.

THE KINDERGARTEN:

A kindergarten demonstrating the application of modern educational principles in the training of little children offers the student an opportunity to observe the practical working of the theories and methods which she has been studying in her course.

Senior A Semester

Practice teaching sixteen weeks in the public schools.

DETAILS OF THE KINDERGARTEN PRIMARY COURSE

THEORY:

Introductory—The purpose of this course is to give the student the historical background for the study of the kindergarten of to-day, and also to prepare her for intelligent observation of modern kindergartens.

Child Training—This course embraces a sympathetic study of universal activities of children and is based upon Froebel's Die Mutter und Kose Lieder.

PEDAGOGY OF THE KINDERGARTEN:

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM:

This course includes a study of the fundamental principles underlying elementary education and a practical demonstration of these as related to the kindergarten. It is given in four parts.

1—Educational Principles.

2—Development of a Kindergarten Program.

3—Study and practical demonstration of the Project Method as related to the Kindergarten.

4—Study of the Methods of Conducting Mothers' Meetings.

THE STUDY OF PLAY MATERIALS:

The aim of this course is to familiarize the student with the modern use of the Froebelian gifts; to develop the educational value of toys and their place in the kindergarten; to experiment with modern materials, such as the Hill blocks, and estimate their value in relation to elementary education.

HANDWORK:

A study of various forms of handwork, adapted to the ability of little children, including a few of the Froebelian occupations in a modified form. Practical work in the same for the kindergarten and primary grades.

STORIES:

A study of the principles of selection and of presentation of stories, with classification of stories, writing of original stories and practice in telling stories.

SONGS AND DRAMATIZATION:

A study in selection and presentation of songs suitable for kindergarten and primary grades and the dramatization of songs and rhymes.

GAMES AND RHYTHMIC EXERCISES:

A study of children's games and practice in playing kindergarten games. A study of interpretative rhythms and dances. Original work in the same.

SUBJECTS IN THE GENERAL COURSE:

Elementary and Genetic Psychology, History of Education, Introduction to Education, English, Nature Study, Music, Drawing, Manual Training, Pedagogy and Methods, Gymnastics, Penmanship, Physiology and Hygiene, and Primary Methods in Arithmetic, Geography and History.

GIFTS

A generous gift of money from the late Edward Russ, Esq., for the decoration of the building has enabled the school to place on its walls many photographs of men eminent in science, psychology, education, and in public affairs, as well as several reproductions of the masterpieces of great artists. At his death, Mr. Russ bequeathed to this school a collection of curios and of photographs and the substantial sum of money which has taken permanent form in Edward Russ Hall.

Many other gifts now adorn the building, having been presented to the school by the different classes upon their graduation and at various times after graduation. These gifts are as follows:

Class of 1910—Statue of Athene.
Books for the library.
Class of 1911—Cast of the Winged Victory of Samothrace.
Pictures for the Kindergarten.
Class of 1912—Statue of Diana.
Sun dial, the work of Messrs. Danufsky and Halsey, of the class of 1912.
Class of 1913—Photographs of three Millet paintings. In 1915 this class also furnished the hospital room at Edward Russ Hall.
Class of 1914—Photographs of Ruysdael's Windmill and The Hour of the Angelus by Perret.
Classes of January and June, 1915—An oil portrait of the present principal.
Class of June, 1916—Bronze shield with educational motto.
Class of January, 1917—Photograph of James Whitcomb Riley and a set of his works for the library.
Class of June, 1917—Silk United States presentation flag.
Class of January, 1918—Two bas-reliefs—"Singing Boys" of Luca della Robbia.
Class of June, 1918—Two bas-reliefs.

Class of January, 1919—Three photographs, one of the cathedral of Amiens, and two of the modern Dutch school.

Class of June, 1919—Two busts, one of Theodore Roosevelt and one of Woodrow Wilson.

Class of January, 1920—Two busts, one of George Washington and one of Abraham Lincoln.

Class of June, 1920—Likestone bench and birds' drinking bowl for school grounds.

Class of January, 1921—Bronze tablet with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address engrossed.

Alumni Reunion

On May 8, 1920, the tenth annual reunion of the alumni was held at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City. The following officers were elected for the year 1920-1921:

President, ...Isabel Raynor, 1917
Vice-President, ...Mary Golden, 1910
Recording Secretary, ...Florence Etzel, 1913
Corresponding Secretary, ...Lois Saunier, 1917
Treasurer, ...Marion Flint, 1916
Assistant Treasurer, ...Lida Irons, 1911

Executive Committee

Employment of Graduates

School superintendents and members of boards of education are invited to visit the school and to consult with the principal when they need teachers. Full records of scholarship and confidential estimates of a student's personality will always be given to school officials. Under the system of practice teaching connected with this school, one-half of each senior class may be seen at work at any time.

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE

The Legislature of 1902 directed the State Board of Education to investigate the need of additional facilities for training teachers for the public schools of New Jersey. In its annual report of 1903, the Board reported that, although the New Jersey State Normal School at Trenton was filled with students, the supply of trained teachers was quite inadequate to the increasing demand and recommended that a normal school be established in the northern part of the State. In 1904 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of a site. After inspecting many locations, the Board finally purchased a plot of twenty-five acres in the northern part of Montclair, Essex County. A more beautiful or healthful site could not have been chosen. The grounds have an elevation of four hundred feet above sea level and command an uninterrupted view of a landscape of remarkable beauty. The Orange range stretches away to the right, while at the front and left the Passaic valley, the Hudson, and the taller buildings of New York are plainly visible.

An appropriation of $275,000 was made by the Legislature of 1906 for the erection and equipment of a building. The mission style was adopted and a normal school building, 334 feet long and 133 feet deep, of brick covered with white stucco, was erected on the highest part of the grounds, fronting the New York landscape. The equipment is of the latest and best. The ample grounds afford opportunities for school gardens, tennis courts, and all the outdoor activities of a large normal school.

The building was dedicated September 28, 1908, by Governor John Franklin Fort and the State Board of Education. The school had been previously organized on September 15, with 187 students. Another class was received in February, 1909, to the number of 31, making the total registration in the first year 218. No advanced classes were opened the first year and no students received from any other normal school.

The New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair may be reached in the following ways:

1. By Erie Railroad—Greenwood Lake Division. The Montclair Heights station adjoins the grounds of the normal school.

2. By D. L. and W. Railroad to Montclair station, thence by Valley Road trolley to the grounds.

3. By Bloomfield Avenue trolley with transfer at Valley Road to Valley Road trolley.

4. By Autobus from Paterson and Montclair, also by autobus from Newark.

Passengers to Newark by the Pennsylvania Railroad or by the Central Railroad of New Jersey can take Bloomfield Avenue trolley to Montclair at Terminal station, Newark.

The General Aim of the School

The Montclair State Normal School is a professional school, whose single aim at present is the preparation of teachers for the elementary schools and kindergartens of the State.

The qualifications of a good teacher are both natural and acquired. The former include all that we mean by personality. In detail, these are:

1. Adaptability and tact, i. e., the ability to adjust one's self in thought, language and method to the immaturity of children.
2. A strong attraction for teaching, based on genuine love of children.
3. Intellectual ability.
4. Executive ability.
5. Common sense.
6. Good health and a cheerful disposition.

One who lacks any of these natural qualifications will not teach well. Since the Normal School cannot create personality, it cannot make teachers. Its most important function is to discover, to inspire and to train the born teacher, and to fit her into her appropriate place in the schools.

There can be no academic tests of personality. The candidate for the teaching profession is admitted to the Normal School chiefly upon evidence of her intellectual ability. The condition is always implied that she may be dismissed whenever it becomes clear that she lacks conspicuously the natural qualifications of the good teacher.

To the natural teacher, however, the Montclair State Normal School offers unexcelled opportunities of acquiring that professional knowledge and technical skill which are indispensable to the best teaching.

The course of study includes the necessary elements in the training of teachers.

(1) Educational theory. The history of education, psychology, pedagogy, organization and management of schools, the principles and art of teaching, and methods.

(2) A thorough study of the subject matter of the elementary school curriculum.

(3) Observation of model teaching.

(4) Practice in teaching under expert supervision.

Requirements for Admission

Both sexes are admitted.

1. Residence. Candidates must be residents of New Jersey. During the period of teacher shortage, however, non-residents may be admitted under certain conditions.

2. Age. (See catalogue.)

3. Scholarship. The State Board of Education, on February 1st, 1919, passed the following resolution concerning the entrance requirements to the State Normal Schools:

Resolved, That candidates may satisfy the scholarship requirements for admission to these schools by graduation from a four-year course of a high school or private school approved by the State Board of Education; or by holding a first grade county teacher's certificate, a permanent elementary, or secondary teacher's certificate.

4. Health. All candidates must present certificates from physicians stating that they are in good health and free from all physical defects that unfit them for teaching.

The Committee on Normal Schools has voted that all candidates for admission shall be examined by a woman physician selected by the school to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for teaching; and that any student may be examined by this physician at any time in her course to determine whether her physical condition warrants her continuance in the school.

In conformity with the statute of the State requiring physical training in the public schools, the State Board of Education, on October 6, 1917, voted as follows: "That the Normal Schools Committee be instructed to inform the principals of the Normal Schools that in the opinion of this Board all students in the Normal Schools are required to take physical instruction, and that therefore none can be admitted under the law except such as are physically qualified to take such instruction as is being given."

5. Character. All candidates must present testimonials of good moral character.

6. Intention to teach. At registration all students must sign a declaration that they intend to teach in the public schools of New Jersey for at least two years immediately after being graduated, unless excused temporarily by the State Board of Education, and that if they do not so teach they will refund to the State the cost of their education.

7. All students are admitted on probation. The principals of the State Normal Schools have been instructed by the State Board of Education to exclude from these schools at the close of the first half year such students as are unable to pass the prescribed examinations in the work of that half year, including English composition, spelling and arithmetic.

N. B.—Application blanks containing all data necessary for admission may be obtained of the principal.

High School Preparation for the Normal School

While all graduates of approved high schools and approved private secondary schools are admitted without examination, all are advised to study the following subjects in their high school courses: plane geometry, botany, physics, one foreign language, at least three years of English, United States history and civics, English history, modern European history, music, drawing, arithmetic, geography and English grammar.

Every candidate should review spelling, arithmetic, English grammar, geography, and United States history in the last year of her high school course.

High school preparation in music should consist of (a) sight reading: the ability to read at sight, true to pitch, with Latin syllables, melodies containing simple skips based on the tonic chord, in any major key, and in simple two and three-part measures; (b) ear training, the ability to recognize and match tones sung to neutral syllables, as "loo."

Students will find the work of the Normal School easier if they have had good courses in musical notation and in drawing in the High School.

No student will be graduated until she reaches a high degree of proficiency in spelling. Students who are very deficient in spelling or in the mechanics of written English will fail in the work of this school.

Expenses

No charge is made for tuition or for the use of textbooks and apparatus.

Each girl must provide herself with a gymnasium outfit. This consists of a pair of high white sneakers, two middy blouses, and a pair of black bloomers. The entire outfit may be purchased through the school for $7.00.

Each man must provide himself with a pair of sneakers, a dark blue Jersey and a pair of dark blue trousers.

It is most important that no part of the outfit should be purchased without the approval of the physical director. Students with apparel already in their possession should bring it for approval on Registration Day.

Each student must purchase a pitch pipe for use in the music classes. The price should not exceed one dollar.

THE EDWARD RUSS HALL

The late Edward Russ bequeathed a substantial sum of money to the State Board of Education for the use of the New Jersey State Normal School at Montclair. This bequest has been used in the erection of a dormitory known as Edward Russ Hall, which was opened for boarding pupils September 16, 1915.

The building is fireproof throughout and is designed in the Spanish Mission style, with white stucco exterior walls and red Spanish tile roof, to conform in character to the present Normal School building.

The dormitory accommodates 96 students, there being 52 single rooms and 22 double rooms. Each floor is provided with ample bath and toilet-room facilities, and at each end of the hall, conveniently located, are two enclosed fireproof stairs extending from the top floor to the ground and giving ample exits.

The main floor is particularly well planned for the social requirements of a school. The living-room is thirty-three feet wide and forty feet long, having at one end a reading-room, thirteen feet by thirty-two feet. This is elevated a few steps above the general level of the living-room and can be used as a stage for giving amateur plays. On one side of the living-room is a large open fireplace, which adds much to the attractiveness of the room.

At the other end of the building is the dining-room, accommodating 110 persons. This is finished in old ivory tints and has an attractive fireplace at one side of the room.

The kitchen and serving-rooms are up to date in every respect. They are arranged with a view to the best sanitary requirements, and every convenience of a large kitchen has been installed.

On the first floor is located the matron's suite, which contains a living-room and bedroom. There is also a reception-room for visitors, and a hospital room.

EDWARD RUSS HALL

The basement contains storerooms, trunk rooms and a large and well equipped laundry.

The sleeping-rooms, both single and double, are equipped with comfortable and attractive furniture. Each student has a single iron bedstead and excellent mattress, a chiffonier, a desk, a commode, an easy chair and a straight chair. Each student has a separate closet for clothing.

Rooms and Rates

The uniform rate for each boarder is $275 per annum, payable as follows: $5.00 when application is made; the balance in quarterly installments at the beginning of each quarter—that is, $63.75 at registration, and $68.75 at the beginning of each quarter thereafter. The dates of these quarters are given on page 9.

No application for a room will be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of $5.00; if the application is rejected this will be refunded. If the applicant withdraws more than thirty days before the opening of the school the deposit will be refunded, but otherwise it will be forfeited. Checks should be payable to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

This charge includes board, laundry, heat, lights, and either a single or half a double room, according to the date of application.

Laundry is limited to twelve pieces per week of personal clothing but no starched pieces are ironed. All clothing should be marked with the owner's name in indelible ink.

No rebate is made for absence on Saturdays and Sundays, for illness for less than three weeks, or for expulsion or voluntary withdrawal from school during a quarter. Pupils who are ill for three weeks or more at one time will receive a drawback of $2.50 per week during such illness.

A student who withdraws from the dormitory voluntarily during a semester is responsible for the above payments for the full semester.

Students who have engaged accommodation at the dormitory should arrive on the day preceding the opening of the term.

Trunks should be marked "Edward Russ Hall, Montclair Heights, N. J." If expressed prepaid to Montclair Heights or to Montclair by American Railway Express Company, they will be delivered at the dormitory. If a student checks her trunk on her railroad ticket, it will be delivered at the dormitory by the Shepard Transfer Company of Montclair, or by E. N. Harrison, 81 N. Fullerton Avenue, Montclair.

Each student should bring overshoes, an umbrella, a raincoat, bath towels, and two clothes bags marked distinctly with her name.

DORMITORY REGULATIONS

1. STUDY HOURS

Study hours will be observed on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, according to the following schedule:

7:30—Study hour begins. Each student must spend the entire study hour in her own room.

9:30—Study hour ends.

10:10—Warning bell.

10:15—Lights out. Every student must be in her own room and must retire.

2. CHURCH

Each student must attend church Sunday forenoon unless excused by the matron because of illness or bad weather.

3. LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM TOWN

Except in cases of illness or emergency, no student is permitted to leave town on any school day nor in such cases except by permission of the principal. Permanent excuses good for one term to spend week-ends at home or elsewhere will be granted to students whose parents or guardians send written requests to the principal. In all cases of absence from town, students must sign the matron's book before leaving.

4. EVENING ABSENCES

No student may be absent from the dormitory on the evenings of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday except as above. Students wishing to attend the movies on Friday or Saturday evening must attend the early performance, must have permission from the matron and must return to the dormitory not later than 10 P. M.

5. Guests

Guests will be entertained at one dollar per day if arrangements are made previously with the matron. Except on Friday, Saturday or Sunday evenings, guests must remain downstairs during the study hour—7:30 to 9:30. Men callers are not allowed above the first floor. Men callers may be received only on Saturday afternoons and evenings and on Sunday afternoons and evenings. No man will be admitted to the dormitory as a caller or to any dance unless his name is on the matron's list. To secure such privilege he must be recommended in writing by a responsible person.

6. Miscellaneous

No food, dishes, glasses or silverware may be taken from the dining room. No chafing dishes, candles, matches or other inflammable materials are allowed in students' rooms, but electric grills may be used.

Each student must take care of her own room. Rooms must be kept in neat condition and must be cleaned at such times as the matron may require.

Students may use the rear doors of the hall only between the hours of 2 P. M. and 5:30 P. M. On Saturdays and Sundays they may be used from 8 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.

Dormitory students must be present at the Normal School building from 9:10 to 11:40 and from 12:30 to 2:00 on every school day unless excused by the matron, the assistant matron or by a physician. In case of such excuse a student must remain in her own room.

Trays for sick girls must be ordered through the matron or assistant matron half an hour before regular meals. Ten cents extra will be charged for each tray.

Schedule of meals—all days except Saturday and Sunday:
Breakfast, 7:15 A. M. and 7:45 A. M.
Luncheon, 11:50 A. M.

Dinner, 6:00 P. M.
Saturday—Breakfast, 8:00 A. M.
Dinner, 12:00 noon.
Supper, 6:00 P. M.
Sunday—Breakfast, 8:00 A. M.
Dinner, 1:00 P. M.
Supper, 6:00 P. M.

Students must be on time for meals. Students assigned to the first table for breakfast will not be served at the second table.

REGULATIONS FOR STUDENTS BOARDING OUTSIDE THE DORMITORY

Students may board or room in only such private families as are approved by the principal. An approved list of boarding and rooming houses is kept on file and may be had on application to Katheryn E. Hayes, Treasurer.

The control of the Normal School over students boarding outside the dormitory is as complete as that exercised over students in the dormitory. All dormitory regulations as to study hours, absences, church attendance, etc., apply equally to dormitory students and to students boarding outside.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

No special students are admitted.

The aim of the school is distinctly professional.

Students are trained to teach in the elementary schools or kindergartens of the State. There are two courses of study—the General Course and the Kindergarten-Primary Course.

Graduates in the General course receive permanent Normal School certificates qualifying them to teach and to supervise teaching in any branch or department of at least the first eight years of work, exclusive of the kindergarten; to be the principal of any school of the first eight years that is under a city superintendent; to be the principal of a school or schools of the first eight years in a district employing not more than nine assistant teachers and not under a local superintendent or supervising principal.

Graduates in the Kindergarten-Primary course receive permanent Normal School certificates qualifying them to teach and to supervise teaching in the kindergarten and in any branch or department of the first four years of school work, exclusive of the kindergarten.

These certificates are endorsable without examination in most States.

I. The General Course

The General course requires two years for its completion. Students are received in September or in February.

DEMONSTRATION SCHOOL

In order that the students of the Normal School may have an opportunity of observing the application of modern educational principles to the training of little children, a demonstration school has been established, consisting at present of a kindergarten, a first grade class and a second grade class. A third grade class and a fourth grade class will be added.

The rooms of the demonstration school are models of their kind. The latest and best equipment of furniture, apparatus, pictures, books and industrial equipment have been provided. The course of study and the methods of instruction are believed to be the best that advanced and progressive pedagogy has given. The project method of teaching is employed throughout. Each student in the Junior A and in the Senior B class of the Normal School observes the work of the demonstration school one hour each week.

Senior A Semester

Practice Teaching in the public schools under the supervision of critic teachers from the Normal School.

Detail of the General Course of Study

Introduction to Education

Three periods per week in the Junior B Semester

The aim of this course is to familiarize students at the beginning with the large principles of education, to train them to observe the procedure in their various classes, and to translate their experiences in terms of the principles studied, thus motivating their work throughout their Normal School course.

The course includes:

(1) A discussion of the various aims of education with special emphasis upon the social efficiency aim—what it includes, its effect upon choice of subject matter, upon methods, habits, discipline.

(2) A consideration of the factors which influence the teaching process—the home, the community, the school—and a discussion at length as to the place of the school with reference to the aim of education, and the right of the State to tax the individual for the schools' support, and to enforce compulsory education.

(3) A study of the origin of subject matter, of the factors which form the basis of education, of the place and function of these factors—viz., ideas, attitudes and feelings, instincts and capacities, habits—and the purposes of education with reference to these factors.

(4) A general discussion of the various forms of teaching procedure best adapted to securing the different purposes of education, viz., lecture or reading lesson, inductive, deductive, object, experiment, appreciation, assignment, recitation, study, review, drill, and examination lessons with especial emphasis upon the discussion of each as to purposes, procedure, advantages, limitations, etc.

(5) A consideration of the study lesson in detail from the standpoint of its use (1) to the student, (2) by the teacher. (An effort will be made to improve individual methods of study.)

(6) An appreciation of the content of the various courses provided in the Normal School curriculum with reference to the student's preparation for teaching, and training in the recognition of the various forms of procedure used in these classes and their value.

Educational Psychology

Three periods per week in Junior A and two periods per week in Senior B Semesters

This course presupposes the course "Introduction to Education," but no definitely psychological training. Its aim is to take up those phases of psychology which contribute most practical help in the problems of learning and of teaching and to give the fundamental explanation of important pedagogical principles. Class discussion is based upon observation of the children in the demonstration grades of the school, upon informal introspection and experiment, and upon text and reference work with the books of such authors as Averill, Calkins, James, LaRue, Norsworthy & Whitley, Terman, etc.

Three hours a week during the Junior A Semester are devoted to the study of normal conscious experience as it develops, including especially such topics as: the nervous system as conditioning behavior; attention; the important mental processes—perceiving (significant kinds of sensory defects are noted), imagining, remembering, reasoning, feeling, willing—and their inter-relation; the problem of the transfer of training; etc.

Work of the Senior B Semester comprises two periods a week. The main topics studied are: instincts and habits as natural and acquired forms of response and as factors in the child's education; individual differences; educational measurements (nature, use, and limitations of tests and scales); and the learning process in general.

PEDAGOGY OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

Four periods per week in Senior B Semester

Purposes of the Course in Pedagogy

1. To acquaint students with the modern conception of the aim of education and the educational principles underlying the teaching process.
2. To give students practice in applying these principles to the selection, organization and presentation of subject matter.
3. To develop a professional spirit by putting students in touch with modern educational movements and current educational literature.

Topics Taken Up in Pedagogy

1. Methods of study. These methods are applied in the study of pedagogy.
2. The aim of education—the producing of socially efficient people.
3. The place of the school in the educative process and its relationship to other institutions, such as the home, library, amusements.
4. The essentials of an efficient school.
   - a. The physical conditions.
   - b. The child as the most important factor.
   - c. The teacher—her characteristics and an attempt to develop them.
   - d. The course of study or curriculum. Courses of study used in New Jersey are examined. Students are made familiar with good courses of study.
   - e. The daily program.
   - f. Methods of teaching, with especial emphasis on securing interest.
     1. Project method—discussed and applied.
     2. Motives in school work.
     3. Types of lessons.
        Inductive.
        Deductive.
        Drill.
        Review.
        Study.

4. Art of questioning, including the topical method and the socialized recitation.
5. Text books.
6. Assignment of lessons.

g. Class Management.
School Spirit.
Place of routine.
Methods of securing self-direction.

The course includes assigned readings, reports, observations of teaching, discussion, plans and the working out of individual and group projects

READING AND SPELLING

Three periods a week in Senior B Semester

This course aims to teach students to apply the principles of education as considered in the more general course to methods in reading and spelling.

1. Reading (a) Something of the history of reading as to selection of material and methods used. (b) Present-day standards for choice of subject matter. (c) Methods: A discussion of the word, sentence and phonic methods. Discussions of other more recent methods which are combinations of the above, as Aldine, Winston, Story Hour, and McCloskey; correlation of drawing, stories, dramatization with reading in the primary grades. Study of phonetics. Lesson plans and the presentation of an ideal method by each student. A discussion of the use of children's project reports as subject matter for beginning reading, thus correlating the reading with the children's social experiences. The Mother Goose rhymes are used as material for seat-work. The purpose of this work is to teach the children how to study independently. Other types of seat-work having real educational value as a means of teaching children to read are also discussed. Methods for intermediate grades will be considered: the preparation; the word-drill; oral reading as compared with silent reading; the use of the dictionary; vocal expression; faults of expression; causes, how corrected; correlation of reading with other subjects.

2. Spelling. The following topics in connection with the teaching of spelling are discussed: the training of children to study independently through the spelling lesson; selection of words for primary grades; division of words into syllables; the part pronounciation plays in spelling; value of dictation lessons; desirability of having children keep lists of their own misspelled words for frequent review; spelling games and spelling matches.

Methods of teaching other subjects are discussed in the several departments in connection with the subject matter.

PENMANSHIP

One period per week for three Semesters

There are two aims in this course. The first is to develop a legible, easy and rapid handwriting. This is accomplished by hygienic position of the body, correct penholding, movement drills and analysis of form. Uniform height, even spacing, neatness and arrangement of work receive special attention.

The second is to teach the method of presentation. Considerable blackboard practice is given with emphasis on position. The quality of paper, size and type of pen and holder, writing implements in the different grades, objects to be sought in the lower and upper grades, time devoted to penmanship and its relation to other studies are carefully considered.

The various systems are compared, showing their adequacy or inadequacy to meet the demands of the child's later life.

History of Education

Thirty hours for one Semester

The first part of this course presents briefly the educational principles of Comenius, Rousseau, Pestalozzi, Froebel, Herbart and Spencer. The remainder is devoted to a study of special types of present-day schools; i. e., Gary schools, the platoon system, the junior high school, schools for defective and backward children, vocational and other schools. Instruction is given by textbooks, lectures, and by visits to typical schools in the vicinity.

English Grammar and Composition

Junior B

Four hours per week for one Semester

Part I. Grammar.

1. Review of the fundamental principles of technical grammar usually taught in elementary schools.

Sentences and their structure, clauses and phrases. Words classified according to their uses.

2. Methods of developing grammatical principles inductively in the grades.

Part II. Composition.

1. Oral composition stressed as basis for written composition.

Subjects taken from current events, reviews of books, personal experiences, and the daily work of other departments of the Normal School or other material selected by the students, the aim being to develop facility, accuracy, and clearness of expression.

Descriptions, narrations, expositions, with some practice in oral debating. Criticisms of oral work to be made by class.

2. Written Composition.

Letter-writing, telegrams, editorials, reports, advertisements.

Descriptions, narrations, expositions.

Study of the paragraph and the principles of unity, coherence, emphasis and proportion, illustrated from students' themes. Correction by students of their own themes followed by class criticisms.

Part III.

Methods of teaching composition in elementary schools.

Some practice in telling of children's stories, picture study, dictation exercises, projects.

Preparation and discussion of a few brief and simple lesson-plans.

Part IV.

Discussion of State Manual on teaching of English and of text-books to discover proper distribution of work in grammar and composition according to grades.

English Literature

Junior A

Four periods per week for one Semester

Literature studied: Stories from the national epics, ballads, lyric and dramatic poems, stories, myths, fables, fairy tales, folk tales, legends, and hero stories suitable for use in the elementary grades.

Lesson plans prepared for different grades. Discussion of courses in literature for elementary grades. Principles of method of presentation: the choice of stories, the essential qualities of stories for children, the art of story-telling, manner and voice. Dramatization. School programs for anniversaries.

Mathematics

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to equip teachers thoroughly for the work of the grades. Two semesters are spent upon the subject matter to be taught, presented from a more mature and theoretic point of view than that of the graded or high school; one semester upon the pedagogy of the subject. The work of all three semesters, however, deals very largely with the best methods of presenting the work to pupils in the grades.

(a) The Junior B Course.—This course seeks to develop quickness in oral work; accuracy, rapidity, and economy in computation; accuracy of statement in the written or oral analysis of a problem.

A careful study is made of the fundamental principles upon which computation with whole numbers, fractions and decimals depend; and as much drill work is given as time will permit. Considerable time is given to the analysis and solution of problems involving decimals.

A careful study also is made of the measurement of areas and volumes. The rules and principles are developed objectively and applied to practical problems.

The work is based upon the first six chapters of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(b) The Junior A Course.—This course is devoted entirely to a study of percentage and its applications.

The first half of the semester is devoted to a general use of per cent, as expressing relations; and the aim is to develop power to interpret relations expressed in terms of per cent, and to express relations as per cent.

The second half of the semester aims to give the pupil a social insight into business terms, processes, and problems. This includes a study of profit and loss; commercial discount; commission and brokerage; interest and bank discount; banking; stock investments; bond investments; taxes; and insurance.

The work of the semester is based upon Chapter VIII of the Stone-Millis Higher Arithmetic.

(c) THE SENIOR B COURSE.—This course is devoted to the pedagogy of the subject. It includes a study of the aim of a course in arithmetic; a study of the methods of motivating the work; the planning of the daily lesson; the purpose and nature of problems; the use of games in primary number work; a study of "standard tests"; and a careful study of methods of presenting the work of each of the eight grades.

Some time is spent in studying courses of study and recent textbooks.

The work of the semester is based upon Stone's Teaching of Arithmetic.

NATURE-STUDY—ELEMENTARY SCIENCE

Four periods per week for Junior B Semester and three periods per week for Junior A Semester

This department, in its presentation of subject matter and methods, aims to develop the student's intelligent interest in the common natural objects and processes which are a part of the life of the average individual.

Because of the unusual facilities which the location of the school offers, special emphasis is laid upon living things. These are studied in such a way as to enable the student to recognize them readily and understand the principles upon which their life depends.

The main subjects considered are: spring and autumn flowers, with special emphasis on weeds; seed dispersal; trees in summer and winter conditions; preparation of plants and animals for winter; winter birds and how to attract them; migratory birds in the order of their appearance; mammals, especially pets; various small animals, as frogs, toads, etc.; the common constellations, the planets, etc.; seeds and their germination; soil physics as a preparation for the students' own school gardens; the planning of a large home garden; common insects.

The methods of presentation include: actual field work on the average of once a week during the first and the last ten weeks of the course; laboratory practice; recitations; reference work and individual reports involving personal observations and the use of a variety of literature; the study of living and prepared material in preparation for recognition tests involving thirty-five tree leaves, twenty-five twigs, seventy birds, fifty insects and about sixty flowers; lectures illustrated with experiments, charts, models, mounted pictures, stereopticon slides and pictures, mounted specimens and Victrola bird records; lesson plans and papers on the pedagogy of the subject.

Each student makes from four to six collections which are intended for after-use in teaching.

Geography

Two periods per week for three Semesters

The work of the first term emphasizes the geography of the immediate environment. Through this work most of the large principles of geography are developed. The work of the second term deals with the geography of the United States and of North America. Through this work the pupils have an opportunity to examine and compare texts most used in the elementary school, to learn to use the library and to collect, organize and present material according to modern methods. The work of the third term consists of a study of South America and the most important European countries. In this connection some work is done on the geography of Asia, Africa and Australia in comparing the value of the colonial possessions of the great world powers. The latter part of the term is devoted to an examination of courses of study, and the preparation of lesson plans.

American History

Three periods per week for two Semesters

This course presents a general survey of the rise and development of the American nation and includes a discussion of methods of teaching history and civics in the primary and grammar grades, the study of curricula, the use of sources and illustrative material, and a knowledge of historical bibliography. The chief topics studied are the teaching of European history in the elementary grades, European influences on American colonization, the struggle for supremacy between England and France, growth of colonial institutions, the contest with England, formation and interpretation of the Constitutions of the United States and New Jersey, the development of the new nation, western expansion, conditions, parties and issues that led to the Civil War, the war and its results, national development since 1877, social and economic problems, labor and capital, immigration, the tariff, the United States as a world power, territorial and political expansion, the causes of the Great War, and community civics for the grades.

The course consists of lectures, recitations, special topics, assigned readings, written reviews, story-telling and class exercises in the conduct of history recitations, projects, illustrative manual work, and discussions of current history with the aid of newspapers and magazines.

The Manual Arts

Drawing—Two periods per week for Junior B and Junior A Semesters

Part I. Nature drawing, conventionalizing of plant forms, and the adoption of simple designs suitable for grade work.

Part II. Fundamentals of cylindrical and angular perspective, including simple interiors and exteriors of buildings.

Lettering applied to practical school problems—signs, posters, etc., and the study of color theory, particularly with reference to interior decoration and costume design.

Manual Training—Two periods per week for Junior A and Senior B Semesters

(a) Paper tearing, cutting, folding and pasting.
(b) Thrift problems.
(c) Simple book mending and making.
(d) Sand-table representation.
(e) Elementary sewing.
(f) Woodworking for primary and intermediate grades.

Blackboard Drawing—One period per week for Senior B Semester

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HYGIENE

Physical Education:
Three periods per week for two Semesters
Two periods per week for one Semester
Hygiene: Two periods per week for one Semester

PHYSICAL EDUCATION:

First and second semesters—This course is given to keep the student in good physical condition, and includes marching tactics, free work, hand and heavy apparatus, games, folk dances, and track athletics.

Third semester—The theory of gymnastics is taught, including lesson plans and nomenclature, with practice teaching of games, dances, and original gymnastic lessons suitable to the school room.

PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE:

These lectures are given to teach students the importance of hygienic living and to familiarize them with the subject matter to be presented by them in the public schools.

MUSIC

One period per week for three Semesters

The aim of this course is to enable the student to meet the requirements for teaching music in the public schools in the State from the primary to the highest grades.

Some of the salient features of this course are: rote songs, treatment of monotones, ear training and interval work, diatonic and chromatic scales, minor scales, class and individual sight reading, dictation work for all grades, time and rhythm emphasized, simple song forms and cadences, elementary harmony, history of music, lives of famous composers, stories of the operas, program making and practice teaching, chorus work, appreciation of music taught by lectures and victrola.

II. The Kindergarten Primary Course

This course requires two years for its completion and qualifies a graduate to teach in a kindergarten or in one of the first four primary grades. Students are received in September or in February. They must have the same qualifications as candidates for the General Course. In addition every applicant for admission to this course must be able to sing well enough to conduct the singing in the Kindergarten, and she must be able to play the piano. This means that the student on registration day will be examined both in vocal and instrumental music. She will be expected to play the music that is used in any modern Kindergarten. This music consists of songs, some classical selections, and rhythms such as marches, skips and simple dance rhythms.

Every applicant who does not play from memory must bring several selections of music with her on registration day. This must be of good class. Rag-time will not be accepted.

Every candidate must be able to sing simple, familiar airs both with and without the piano.

It is advisable for the applicant to familiarize herself with the music of the type to be found in the following collections from which examination material will be selected:

INSTRUMENTAL

Music for the Child World, I, II, III, Marie Hofer.
Family Music Book, published by G. Schirmer.
Master Series for the Young, selected and edited by Edwin Hughes, published by G. Schirmer.
Rhythms of Childhood, Caroline Crawford.
First Year Music, Hollis Dann, published by American Book Company.

VOCAL.

Every applicant must sing with and without the piano, true to pitch, types of hymns such as

O Come, All Ye Faithful,
Love Divine, All Love Excelling, and types of songs such as Old Folks at Home, and America.

DETAILS OF THE KINDERGARTEN PRIMARY COURSE

THEORY:

Introductory—The purpose of this course is to give the student the historical background for the study of the kindergarten of to-day, and also to prepare her for intelligent observation of modern kindergartens.

Child Training—This course embraces a sympathetic study of universal activities of children and is based upon Froebel's Die Mutter und Kose Lieder.

PEDAGOGY OF THE KINDERGARTEN:

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM:

This course includes a study of the fundamental principles underlying elementary education and a practical demonstration of these as related to the kindergarten. It is given in four parts.

1—Educational Principles.

2—Development of a Kindergarten Program.

3—Study and practical demonstration of the Project Method as related to the Kindergarten.

4—Study of the Methods of Conducting Mothers' Meetings.

THE STUDY OF PLAY MATERIALS:

The aim of this course is to familiarize the student with the modern use of the Froebelian gifts; to develop the educational value of toys and their place in the kindergarten; to experiment with modern materials, such as the Hill blocks, and estimate their value in relation to elementary education.

HANDWORK:

A study of various forms of handwork, adapted to the ability of little children, including a few of the Froebelian occupations in a modified form. Practical work in the same for the kindergarten and primary grades.

STORIES:

A study of the principles of selection and of presentation of stories, with classification of stories, writing of original stories and practice in telling stories.

SONGS AND DRAMATIZATION:

A study in selection and presentation of songs suitable for kindergarten and primary grades and the dramatization of songs and rhymes.

GAMES AND RHYTHMIC EXERCISES:

A study of children's games and practice in playing kindergarten games. A study of interpretative rhythms and dances. Original work in the same

SUBJECTS IN THE GENERAL COURSE:

Educational Psychology, History of Education, Introduction to Education, English, Nature Study, Music, Drawing, Manual Training, Pedagogy, Reading Methods, Gymnastics, Penmanship, Physiology and Hygiene, and Primary Methods in Arithmetic, Geography and History.

GIFTS

A generous gift of money from the late Edward Russ, Esq., for the decoration of the building has enabled the school to place on its walls many photographs of men eminent in science, psychology, education, and in public affairs, as well as several reproductions of the masterpieces of great artists. At his death, Mr. Russ bequeathed to this school a collection of curios and of photographs and the substantial sum of money which has taken permanent form in Edward Russ Hall.

Many other gifts now adorn the building, having been presented to the school by the different classes upon their graduation and at various times after graduation. These gifts are as follows:

Class of 1910—Statue of Athene.
Books for the library.
Class of 1911—Cast of the Winged Victory of Samothrace.
Pictures for the Kindergarten.
Class of 1912—Statue of Diana.
Sun dial, the work of Messrs. Danufsky and Halsey, of the class of 1912.
Class of 1913—Photographs of three Millet paintings. In 1915 this class also furnished the hospital room at Edward Russ Hall.
Class of 1914—Photographs of Ruysdael's Windmill and The Hour of the Angelus by Perret.

Classes of January and June, 1915—An oil portrait of the present principal.
Class of June, 1916—Bronze shield with educational motto.
Class of January, 1917—Photograph of James Whitcomb Riley and a set of his works for the library.
Class of June, 1917—Silk United States presentation flag.
Class of January, 1918—Two bas-reliefs—"Singing Boys" of Luca della Robbia.
Class of June, 1918—Two bas-reliefs.
Class of January, 1919—Three photographs, one of the cathedral of Amiens, and two of the modern Dutch school.
Class of June, 1919—Two busts, one of Theodore Roosevelt and one of Woodrow Wilson.
Class of January, 1920—Two busts, one of George Washington and one of Abraham Lincoln.
Class of June, 1920—Likestone bench and birds' drinking bowl for school grounds.
Class of January, 1921—Bronze tablet with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address engrossed.
Class of June, 1921—Bronze relief of the seal of the State of New Jersey.
